TATA

this World EV Day —
India's No.1 EV brand,
TATA.ev presents

the switch test

Imagine a world with only EVs, and petrol technology
is newly introduced.
Would you switch?

TATA.ev Switch Test | Mark your answers here or scan the QR to take the test online

The cars with this new petrol technology run on a flammable liquid called petrol. Would you try them?
- ☐ No, that sounds risky
- ☐ Yes, I can try them

The cars produce harmful fumes unlike EVs with zero tail pipe emissions*. Would you add to the carbon emissions?
- ☐ No, I prefer a cleaner environment
- ☐ Yes, it won't have a drastic impact

Unlike EVs, you cannot refuel at home. Would you drive to a special station every time to refuel?
- ☐ No, that is inconvenient
- ☐ Yes, sounds exciting

They are not silent like an EV. Would you drive a noisy car?
- ☐ No, I prefer a quiet drive
- ☐ Yes, it doesn't sound like a problem

Unlike EVs, petrol cars don't have instant torque# as the pick-up is gradual with engine speed. Would you compromise?
- ☐ No, I prefer instant pick-up
- ☐ Yes, I am ready

Would you like to give up the ability to charge your car while you brake?
- ☐ No, regenerative braking is amazing
- ☐ Yes, I prefer wasting energy while braking

The cars come with many more parts which means more maintenance. Would you go for it?
- ☐ No, I prefer low maintenance
- ☐ Yes, it can't be that high

Cost of running a petrol car is up to 8 times more expensive than EVs. Would you pay more for the same distance?
- ☐ No, that is way too high
- ☐ Yes, I am okay to spend more

It has a clutch and gears. Would you choose a more difficult way to drive?
- ☐ No, I love the smooth and easy EV drive
- ☐ Yes, I like challenges

It cannot power other cars or appliances. Would you let go of such features?
- ☐ No, V2V and V2L are very useful
- ☐ Yes, I won't need them

The result | There's no doubt EVs are the smartest choice.
If you still think otherwise, book a test drive today.

Colours may not match actual colours due to printing limitations. *Regarding exhaust fumes, EVs produce zero tailpipe emissions. The running cost of ₹ 1 per km is based on slow charging using a 3.3 kW charging source. Actual costs may vary depending on electricity tariffs, charging infrastructure, driving conditions, and usage patterns. Faster charging methods or high-powered chargers may result in higher running costs. #EVs deliver instant torque, while torque delivery in petrol/diesel vehicles depends on engine speed (RPM). ###As per internal data provided by charging point operators. For terms and conditions refer to ev.tatamotors.com. ~Based on internal calculations. Sri. Kurra Jayarami Reddy, No. 26/2, Anjanapura, Lal Bahadhur Shastri Nagar, 11th Block, Bengaluru560083.

Dear Sir,

Sub: Notice issued under Section 13(2) of the Securitisation & Reconstruction of Financial Assets & Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002.

The undersigned being the Authorized Officer of Canara Bank ARM I branch (hereinafter referred to as "the secured creditor"), appointed under the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, (hereinafter referred as the "Act") do hereby issue this notice to you as under:

That Sri. Amit Kiran Dasgupta (hereinafter referred to as "the Borrower") has availed credit facility / facilities stated in the Schedule A hereunder and have entered into the security agreement/s in favour of the secured creditor. While availing the said financial assistance, you have expressly undertaken to repay the loan amount/s in accordance with the terms and conditions of the above-mentioned agreements.

That ____ (hereinafter referred to as "the Co Borrowers/Guarantor Jointly") have guaranteed the payment on demand of all moneys and discharge all obligations and liabilities owing or incurred to the secured creditor by the Borrower for credit facilities up to the limit of ____ with interest thereon.

You (The person mentioned in schedule B) are also entered into agreements against the secured assets which are detailed in Schedule B hereunder.

However, from 20.02.2023, the operation and conduct of the said financial assistance / credit facilities have become irregular. The books of account maintained by the secured assets shows that the liability of the Borrower towards the secured creditor as on date, amounts to Rs. 45,12,258.00/- (Forty five lakhs twelve thousand two hundred fifty eight only), the details of which together with future interest rate are stated in Schedule C hereunder. It is further stated that the Borrower/Guarantor having failed to keep up with the terms of the above said agreement in clearing the dues of the secured creditor within the time given and have been evasive in settling the dues. The operation and conduct of the above said financial assistance / credit facility/ ies having come to a standstill and as a consequence of the default committed in repayment of principal debt/ instalment and interest thereon, the secured creditor was constrained to classify the debt as Non-Performing Asset (NPA) as on 17.09.2023 in accordance with the directives/guidelines relating to asset classification issued by the Reserve Bank of India.

The secured creditor through this notice brings to your attention that the Borrower has failed and neglected to repay the said dues/ outstanding liabilities and hence hereby demand you under Section 13(2) of the Act, by issuing this notice to discharge in full the liabilities of the Borrower as stated in Schedule C hereunder to the secured creditor within 60 days from the date of receipt of this notice. Further, it is brought to your notice that you are also liable to pay future interest at the rate of 1. 8.30% P.A, 2. 8.35% PA together with all costs, charges, expenses and incidental expenses with respect to the proceedings undertaken by the secured creditor in recovering its dues.

Please take note of the fact that if you fail to repay to the secured creditor the aforesaid sum Rs. 45,12,258.00/- (Forty five lakhs twelve thousand two hundred fifty eight only) together with further interest and incidental expenses and costs as stated above in terms of this notice under Section 13(2) of the Act, the secured creditor will exercise all or any of the rights detailed under sub-section (4)(a) and (b) of Section 13, the extract of which is given here below to convey the seriousness of this issue:

13(4)- In case the Borrower/Guarantor fails to discharge liability in full within the period specified in sub- section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the following measures to recover his secured debt, namely;

(a) Take possession of the secured assets of the Borrower/Guarantor including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset;

(b) Take over the management of the business of the Borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realizing the secured asset:

Provided that the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale shall be exercised only where the substantial part of the business of the Borrower is held as security for the debt;

Provided further that where the management of whole of the business or part of the business is severable, the secured creditor shall take over the management of such business of the borrower which is relatable to the security for the debt and under other applicable provisions of the said Act.

Your attention is invited to provisions of sub-section (8) of Section 13 of the Act, in respect of time available, to redeem the secured assets.

You are also put on notice that in terms of Section 13(13) the Borrower/Guarantor shall not transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise the said secured assets detailed in Schedule B hereunder without obtaining written consent of the secured creditor. It is further brought to your notice that any contravention of this statutory injunction/ restraint, as provided under the said Act, is an offence and if for any reason, the secured assets are sold or leased out in the ordinary course of business, the sale proceeds or income realized shall be deposited with the secured creditor. In this regard you shall have to render proper accounts of such realization / income.

This notice of Demand is without prejudice to and shall not be construed as waiver of any other rights or remedies which the secured creditor may have including further demands for the sums found due and payable by you.

This is without prejudice to any other rights available to the secured creditor under the Act and/or any other law in force.

Please comply with the demand under this notice and avoid all unpleasantness. In case of Non- compliance, further needful action will be resorted to, holding you liable for all costs and consequence.

Thanking you

Yours faithfully,
Authorized Officer

ALCARAZ CRUISES PAST SINNER TO WIN HIS SECOND U.S. OPEN TITLE

Carlos Alcaraz brought his best game of the tournament in the summit clash to beat Jannik Sinner in four sets on Sunday. A look...

SPANIARD BACK ON TOP OF THE WORLD

The 22-year-old won 6-2, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 to capture his second US Open crown, avenging his lone defeat in a major final by Sinner at Wimbledon in July. Alcaraz reclaimed the world No 1 ranking from Sinner, returning to the top spot on Monday for the first time since September 2023 after ending the Italian's 27-match winning run at hard-court Grand Slams

DELAYED START BUT DELIGHTFUL FINISH

- The start of the final was pushed back 30 minutes to allow fans additional time to enter the stadium as a result of tighter security measures in effect due to President Donald Trump's attendance
- That, however, did not affect crowd favourite Alcaraz who put on a spectacular show for the fans who struggled to get in | P17

AT LEAST 19 DEAD IN NEPAL YOUTH CLASH | GOVT BLINKS AFTER VIOLENT 'GEN Z' PROTEST | HOME MINISTER QUITS, ARMY DEPLOYED

STREET WAR SHOCKER FOR RIGHT TO SOCIAL MEDIA

Not against social media, but can't accept those doing business in Nepal, making money, and yet not complying with the law

— K P Sharma Oli, Nepal Prime Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

NEPAL plunged into chaos on Monday as violent clashes between security forces and young protesters over a sweeping social media ban and deep-rooted corruption left at least 19 dead and over 300 injured in Kathmandu and other cities, marking one of the country's deadliest civilian unrests.

What began as student-led demonstrations quickly spiralled into deadly confrontations, with riot police firing tear gas, rubber bullets, and water cannons at crowds attempting to storm the national Parliament in Kathmandu.

At least 28 police personnel were also hurt in the clashes.

As the unrest, branded as a 'Gen Z uprising', spread across the country, the authorities imposed curfew in parts of Kathmandu and deployed the Army to maintain order.

"We have imposed a curfew... after protesters began to turn violent," Muktiram Rijal, spokesperson for the Kathmandu district office, told Reuters.

The protesters also attacked Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli's house in Damak.

At the heart of the turmoil is a government decision to block 26 major social media platforms, including Facebook, WhatsApp, YouTube, Instagram, and LinkedIn, citing non-compliance with a new law requiring local registration, grievance redressal mechanisms, and self-regulation oversight. The platforms were banned on September 4, just days before Parliament was scheduled to debate the bill.

While the government claimed the move was aimed at curbing hate speech and online fraud, critics blasted it as a thinly veiled censorship campaign. The ban enraged Nepal's digitally native youth—nearly 90% of the country's 30 million people use the internet.

"Shut down corruption, not social media," read placards carried by many of the young demonstrators, some still in school or college uniforms.

In response to the bloodshed, Home Minister Ramesh Lekhak resigned late Monday, citing moral responsibility.

The Rastriya Swatantra Party (RSP), a rising political force, has demanded Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli's resignation and early elections.

"The relevance of the current government has completely ended," RSP general secretary Kabindra Burlakoti told The Kathmandu Post, calling for a high-level judicial probe and "stern action against those responsible."

Some reports said the government late in the night decided to lift the ban on social media platforms in view of the violence and deaths, but there was no confirmation.

WHY SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORMS WERE BANNED

On September 4, Nepal's Telecommunications Authority directed mobile and internet service providers to deactivate 26 social media platforms that failed to register with the government within a seven-day deadline starting August 28, 2025

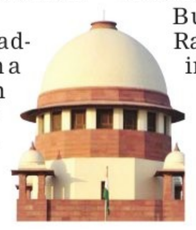
Aadhaar not citizenship proof but joins Bihar SIR basket: SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

IT'S official: Aadhaar card will join the acceptable 11 documents prescribed by the Election Commission of India (ECI) for the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Bihar, making it the 12th document that can be submitted to the poll body.

But Aadhaar continues to be a proof of identity, not citizenship, as are the other nine documents prescribed by the ECI. Only two of the 12 - birth certificate and passport - are valid documents to establish citizenship.

Full clarity on Aadhaar's status came from a Supreme Court bench comprising justices Surya Kant and Joymalya Bagchi on Monday. The court passed the order after the petitioners submitted that EC officials were not accepting Aadhaar as a standalone document for inclusion of names in the electoral rolls.



But senior advocate Rakesh Dwivedi, appearing for the poll body, said, "The EC1 has issued public advertisements in the media to give information to the voters about the Supreme Court's direction on accepting Aadhaar." The bench asked the EC to issue further directions to its officials present on the ground in Bihar to accept Aadhaar as a proof of identity.

Given that the Aadhaar card could be forged, the court allowed officials to verify its authenticity.

"In view of the statutory status assigned to Aadhaar under the Aadhaar Act, it is not proof of citizenship. However, keeping in view Section 23(4) of the Representation of the People Act, Aadhaar card is one of the documents for the purpose of establishing the identity of any person. It is, however, made clear that the authorities shall be entitled to verify the authenticity and genuinity of the Aadhaar card, like any of the other enumerated documents, by seeking further proof/documents," the bench said in its order.

EC: 0.3% illegal immigrants on roll

"Petitioners want Aadhaar as a proof of citizenship. We can't allow that misuse, Dwivedi said, adding the EC had had detected 0.3% illegal immigrants on the roll. The bench said only genuine citizens will be allowed to cast their ballot

BRICS VIRTUAL SUMMIT

INDIA SEEKS FAIR TRADE PRACTICES AMID TARIFF WAR

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AMID escalating global trade tensions driven by US President Donald Trump's tariff policies, India on Monday urged for a fair, transparent and inclusive global economic order. At a virtual BRICS summit, External Affairs Minister Dr S Jaishankar called for resilient economic cooperation to mitigate the fallout from protectionist shocks and geopolitical disruptions.

S Jaishankar

"The world as a collective is seeking a stable and predictable environment for trade and investment," said Jaishankar. "It is imperative that economic practices are fair, transparent and to everyone's benefit."

In a reference to the ongoing trade turbulence, the minister stressed the need for diversified and democratic production systems. "When there are multiple disruptions, our objective should be to proof it against such shocks," he said, calling for "shorter, resilient, and more redundant supply chains."

"The international trading system is based on principles of open, fair, transparent, non-discriminatory, inclusive, equitable and a rules-based approach with special and differential treatment for developing countries. India strongly believes this should be protected and nurtured," he said.

Minor tries to rape 36-yr-old woman, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 17-year-old who tried to sexually assault a 36-year-old woman by pulling her into a corn field was chased and nabbed by passersby in Nelamangala on Saturday evening.

The incident happened at Bolamaranahalli village in Nelamangala taluk between 5.45 pm and 6 pm.

The victim, a working woman who lives in the vicinity, was going to her mother's house in Doddaballapura to pick her child. The two-wheeler-borne accused, who was speeding towards Bolamaranahalli, saw the victim walking alone and reversed his bike and stopped next to her. He suddenly started pulling her towards the field. When she fell down, he pulled her by holding on to her feet. The accused is alleged to have gagged the victim when she started screaming for help.

He did not let her go even when she asked him to take her gold chain and earrings. The accused tried to disrobe her. Hearing her cry, passersby came to her rescue. The accused started running by abandoning his two-wheeler. The public chased him down, gave a severe thrashing before handing him over to the police. P7

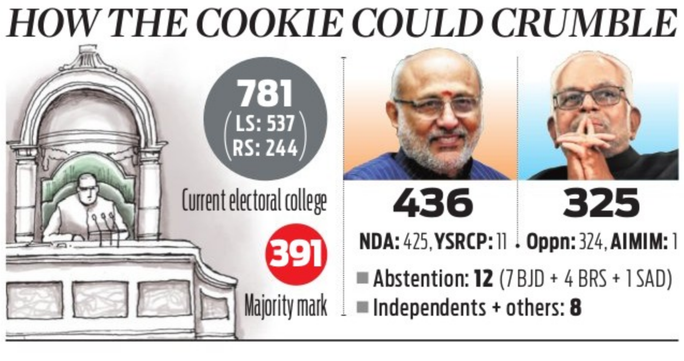
HOW THE COOKIE COULD CRUMBLE



BRS, BJD to abstain from V-P poll today

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH two parties— the seven member Biju Janata Dal (BJD) and four member Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) abstaining from the vice-presidential election on Tuesday, the numbers appears to be tilted in favour of the BJP-led alliance in the poll necessitated due to the sudden resignation of Jagdeep Dhankhar. The NDA has 425 MPs, while the opposition camp has the backing of 324 in the high stake poll in which NDA candidate C P Radhakrishnan is pitted against the opposition's Justice (Retd) B Sudershan Reddy.

Both the NDA and the Congress-led opposition held separate meetings with their respective MPs on poll eve to sensitise them about the election process and also held mock polls.

Among parties not part of the NDA or the INDIA bloc, the YSRCP, with 11 members in Parliament, has decided to support the NDA nominee, while BJD and BRS have decided to abstain. The present strength of the electoral college is 781 (238 from Rajya Sabha and 542 from Lok Sabha; one Lok Sabha and six Rajya Sabha seats are currently vacant). This puts the majority mark at 391.

While one member Shiromani Akali Dal has decided to boycott the election, three of the seven independents in the Lok Sabha have not revealed their hands. Members of the electoral college will cast their votes between 10 am and 5 pm. Results will be announced late evening.

Maddur tense after stones thrown during immersion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mandya

MISCREANTS allegedly threw stones at a Ganesh idol immersion procession in Maddur town, injuring over 15 youth and 10 policemen, on Sunday evening. On Monday, hundreds of pro-Hindu activists staged a protest, triggering communal tension in the region. The police resorted to a lathicharge as the BJP agitation turned violent.

The stone-throwing incident occurred around 8 pm on Sunday when youth from Channegowda Layout and Ram Rahim Nagara, who had organised the Ganesh festival, were taking the idol in procession for immersion near a mosque. The police said unidentified persons hurled stones and iron rods at devotees, sparking clashes. As the youth in the procession retaliated, the situation quickly escalated into a communal confrontation.

As news spread, more pro-Hindu activists gathered at the spot demanding immediate arrests. Soon, both communities came onto the streets, throwing stones at each other. In the violence, at least 15 youth and over 10 police personnel, including women constables, sustained injuries. Additional forces were rushed to the area and the mob was dispersed with a mild lathicharge.

IGP (Southern Range) MB Boralingaiah and SP Mallikharjuna Baladandi reached Maddur and deployed two RPF teams, three KSRP and four DAR platoons. Prohibitory orders too were imposed on the town.

On Monday morning, hundreds of Hindu activists and BJP workers, draped in saffron shawls, marched from Ugra Narasimha Swamy Temple on Hale Pete Beedhi towards the Government Guest House near the mosque. CONTINUED ON P6

Honorarium for new corporators may be reduced or scrapped

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

AS the finance department is working on various permutations and combinations to ensure that the state government is not cash starved, it is now thinking of reducing the honorarium paid to corporators in Bengaluru under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA).

Till the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Council was functioning in September 2020, corporators were getting an honorarium of Rs 7,500 per month. It had been increased from the earlier Rs 5,000. But now, the 500 corporators in the five corporations under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) will not get the same amount.

Finance department sources said, "It is not possible to pay that amount now. Rs 7,500 each to 500 corporators will be a huge burden. The department is thinking of multiple combinations. One case is where 500 corporators will not get any honorarium, but their sitting charges will be increased from the earlier Rs 200 to Rs 500. The other option is to reduce the honorarium from Rs 7,500 to around Rs 3,000 and increase the sitting charges to Rs 500. Another is to take the opinion of former corporators before finalising. No decision has been taken yet."

A senior department official admitted that the division of Palike will lead to a financial burden. The five corporations have five commissioners and five additional commissioners.

There are also special commissioners, more joint commissioners, more engineers, more executive engineers and other staff. "More the staff strength, less the quality of work. This was noticed in zilla and taluk panchayats also," the official added.

"The other associated costs in GBA will also increase, leading to a bigger economic burden," the official said. P4

50% RESERVATION IN GBA

WOMEN ALL SET TO SEIZE THEIR HALF OF POLITICAL ARENA

Activists urge political parties to pick merit rather than make it a 'family party'

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

WOMEN are sensing their opportunity to de-hyphenate from men in politics with Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) set to reserve 50% of the likely 500 corporator seats.

Women activists have welcomed the move and said the decision was not a favour for women, it is their constitutionally guaranteed right.

They, however, say that political parties must stick to merit while giving tickets instead of running a de facto administration.

KS Vimala from Janavadi Mahila Sanghatane said that it is time women used the opportunity to grow politically. At the same time, prominent leaders of political parties should stop interfering or influencing the party to give tickets only to their preferred women candidates, and candidates should be picked based on 'merit' rather than their family or financial background.

"The political parties should, in principle, make it clear that candidates who have skills and who match all the prerequisites and who have merit only are groomed by sending them to the council," said Vimala and added, the candidates must understand that, due to several years of struggle, this opportunity have come and they should carve a niche for themselves to suit to the present day situation.

She said that each party has a responsibility to prepare its women leaders well in advance to fight, get elected, and serve the public.

Shaheen Shasha, another activist, welcomed the move and stated that it is a good opportunity to become politically active and hone their skills.

While it is a well-established fact that many corporators field their wives in wards reserved for women and run the administration de-facto, activists say that this has to stop and the reservation, which is meant to empower women and make them equal stake holders in the democratic set up, should be implemented both in letter and spirit.

"I have seen at the panchayat level that such a system, where a husband or a male family member, other than the elected representative, controls the area and runs the administration. This is a danger for democracy, and elected women should also cultivate administrative skills instead of limiting themselves to be rubber stamps," said Shridevi Shetty, Co-Founder of Anvaya Foundation, a women's rights organisation.

KARNATAKA MEDIA ACADEMY, INFOSYS JOIN HANDS TO IMPART TRAINING TO JOURNOS

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Media Academy on Monday signed an MoU with Infosys under the latter's CSR programme: 'Springboard'. The programme seeks to provide training to journalists in the state. The pact was signed in the presence of CM Siddaramaiah. As part of Springboard, a three-day training programme will be organised, covering essential skills for digital media, personality development, and AI. According to a release, "The goal is to train 150 journalists through three programmes this year. Among these, one dedicated batch will specifically train women journalists. Priority will be given to district-level journalists." This is the first instance of the Karnataka Media Academy using a CSR programme to empower journalists with soft skills; the body will be responsible for shortlisting journalists and coordinating between them for the programme. The skills to be taught include digital education, skill development, and capacity building. Karnataka Media Academy Chairperson Ayesha Khanum said, "We are optimistic that this innovative platform will play a major role in upskilling media professionals, equipping them with the technical expertise and storytelling finesse required in today's fast-evolving media landscape." 'Get local shops to maintain footpaths'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Bengaluru Central City Corporation Commissioner Rajendra Cholan, who inspected various places under his jurisdiction on Monday, instructed officials to take steps and assign responsibility to commercial shops for the maintenance of footpaths and planting of saplings on the 100-feet Road in Indiranagar.

He said white-topping has been carried out on 100-feet Road, and saplings have been planted by the Horticulture Department along the footpath. But it is ill-maintained. "Officials must meet local commercial enterprises and enter into an agreement, asking them to take steps to themselves maintain the footpaths," he said.

Cholan further added that the bollards installed on the footpath on the same road are damaged and should be repaired. Businesses that dump garbage by the side of the road should be fined and warned not to indulge in such activities. All commercial establishments should install waste bins, he stated.

Cholan also found that the garbage transfer station near the Domlur flyover was not up to the mark, with bad smell emanating from it and overwhelming the environment in the vicinity. Instructions were given to clean the area with a pressure pump, make it odour-free and beautiful, and develop a comprehensive plan. Also, there are scrap vehicles at the very spot, which must be removed immediately.

Construction work of the 'Shantinagar One' building, which includes all departments, is half-finished, and the public requested the commissioner to have the work recommenced.

Before concluding the inspection, Cholan gave instructions to dredge silt in the Rajakaluve near the Domlur flyover, to remove the dry waste collection unit installed near Shanthalanagar Transfer Station, complete the white-topping work on Palm Grove Road, to remove waste dumped in the Rajakaluve near Austin Town, to repair LR Nagar's NGV road, to take steps to complete work on the War Memorial Junction and McGrath Road, and to clear the Shantinagar Maternity Hospital and construct a new building.

BDA Commissioner P Manivannan was also present.

'Govt should pay honorarium, sitting charges'

"IF the division of Bengaluru's administration into five corporations does not improve the city's image, this is going to be a big futile financial exercise," the official added.

Former corporators said the government should pay an honorarium, sitting charges and provide other facilities to corporators. Former BJP corporator Padmanabha Reddy said corporators are not given any salaries. Earlier, there were eight standing committees under the BBMP. Now each corporation will have eight standing committees. The government will have to pay additional amounts to members of each standing committee.

Congress corporator Abdul Wajid, too, said the government should pay at least the honorarium that was paid before the Palike Council was wound up. While the government has ordered the release of the additional amount to each corporation, the existing BBMP budget will be divided into five, he added. The deployment of additional staff under GBA had drawn criticism from other government departments. A senior education department official said that the government has been unable to hire regular and contract teachers, and pay them well. This is affecting education in general, he added.

Vendors sell flowers in temporary stalls in front of the upcoming BDA complex on Sampige Road in Malleswaram | KEVIN NASHON

New complex nears completion on Sampige Rd, but congestion may remain

KEVIN NASHON @ Bengaluru

AFTER an anxious wait of over a decade, vendors in Malleswaram are finally expected to return to their allotted shops at the newly constructed complex on Sampige Road, between 11th and 13th Cross. But will this solve long-standing problem of congestion and encroachment? It seems, no.

"We expect the pending work to be completed by September 30," said Vijayakumar, chief contractor for the BDA project. Vendors said similar promises had been made since 2022. Though preliminary drawings were released on May 5, 2016, the project continued to drag on. The contractor said revisions in National Building Code guidelines, changes in Bescom policy, resistance from vendors to vacate, BBMP's delay in handing over a clear site and slow progress during the lockdown contributed to the delay.

The original shops were demolished on January 28, 2015. "In the new complex, 183 vendors will be shifted to the ground floor. Most of them are currently running temporary stalls on the North and East sides of the complex," said a senior BDA official.

The new complex, however, will not entirely solve issues of congestion and encroachment. While traffic on Sampige Road, primarily occupied by florists, is likely to ease, unauthorised vendors have occupied bylanes.

A senior corporation official said, "We evict the vendors, but they return the next day. The problem persists even though the Malleswaram Traders Association filed complaints, and police took action multiple times." Encroachment has now spread beyond 8th Cross, said Sreesh Babu, a senior citizen living in Malleswaram. "Footpaths on 11th Cross, East Park Road, West Park Road, and even parts of 9th Cross are occupied. This has led to double-sided parking. Paying road tax feels pointless when there's hardly any space on the road," he added.

Malleswaram is classified as a residential-cum-commercial zone. While many vendors depend on the area for their livelihood, it is also home to several residents. Shopkeepers, who pay taxes and dues, complain that their storefronts remain blocked and overlooked because of these vendors.

Another senior official said the issue may be resolved once a dedicated "vending zone" is created for unregistered sellers.

Jakkur ROB to be completed in 3 months, says official

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BENGALURU North City Corporation Commissioner Pommala Sunil Kumar, who undertook a field inspection of various spots under his jurisdiction on Monday, directed officials and contractors to complete constructing the Jakkur railway overbridge (ROB) within three months.

Reviewing the progress of the Jakkur ROB project, Kumar said, "The land acquisition issues have now been resolved, and instructions were given to complete the ramp works on both sides of the overbridge within three months."

The commissioner also inspected the Jakkur Railway Parallel Road, which connects to Ballari Road, and discussed related issues regarding the construction of a new road. Officials have been instructed to commence work immediately. Work on asphalting the road and building a storm water drain along the MCECHS Phase-2, and the Mestripalya-Rachenahalli Link Roads, which run parallel to the railway line, is currently under way. He also directed that these works be completed at the earliest.

During inspection of Royal Enclave Layout, Kumar reviewed door-to-door waste collection activities, emphasising the need for segregation of wet and dry waste, and asked for auto-tippers to visit each household for collection on a daily basis.

A virtual meeting was also held with officials to discuss precautionary measures to prevent monsoon-related disasters and to expedite the resolution of e-Khata applications. Necessary instructions were issued during the session.

Meanwhile, in a surprise inspection conducted by Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML) at a plastic godown in the Bhairaveshwara Industrial Area of Dasarahalli, Bengaluru North Zone, a team led by Assistant General Manager Pavana seized 3.5 tons of banned single-use plastic and imposed a fine of Rs 1.5 lakh on the violators.

4th train on Yellow Line this week, may cut wait time by 10 mins

INDRA S @ Bengaluru

RESPONDING to repeated passenger requests, the much-awaited fourth train will join Namma Metro's Yellow Line fleet this week, officials from the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) confirmed. The line currently operates three trains. The introduction of the additional train is expected to reduce peak-hour wait time from the current 25 minutes to around 15 minutes.

"The fourth train will be introduced for passenger services this week, following the necessary testing required for its commissioning," BMRCL Chief Public Relations Officer Yashwant Chavan said.

"Further addition of trains to the line's fleet will be done as and when we get the trainsets delivered and after necessary testing is carried out," he added.

Another BMRCL official reiterated that the new train could potentially reduce peak-hour wait times from the current 25 minutes to around 15 minutes, though the exact impact will be assessed after commissioning.

Meanwhile, commuters welcomed the development. Speaking to TNIE, Akshata Muralidhar, a regular commuter, said, "I think this is great news that the wait time will reduce. The duration is long, waiting for 25 minutes for trains is difficult, especially when people have to get to work or have strict commitments. The line has been helpful for me, saved time, avoided a lot of traffic, and was cost-efficient."

Another commuter, Pradeep, an IT professional, said, "This addition will have a significant impact as it is bringing down the wait time to 15 minutes and that means crowding will reduce, if not completely, at the least to an extent where we don't have to choke each other while boarding and deboarding."

09TH September: You may have heard the scientific news that the universe is now flat. And you might have wondered what on earth that meant, seeing as it's quite clearly not the case. Actually, 'flat' is shorthand for saying that, if you set off in a straight, line you'll keep going instead of ending up where you started. Still confused? So am I!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Loved ones are certain to have a great deal to say, but really you wouldn't want it any other way - or would you? Any advice you're offered just now may be unreliable, so keep your own counsel. After all, sometimes you do know best, in spite of what others think.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You must acknowledge other people's right to go their own way, free from all emotional blackmail or other constraints. Your costs are increasing, so keep an eye on extra expenses. Also, if it's good advice you're after, you may need to look no further than someone you live with!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There are domestic projects to be finalised, perhaps decoration or minor repairs. You really must complete all outstanding tasks before the end of the week, or at least attempt to reach a suitable stage. It's all a matter of persuading partners that you're doing your bit.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Somebody now seems to be indicating that they are happy about a recent arrangement, but you might still have to put future plans on hold. Please do try to be tolerant of other people's little quirks and foibles. You might think you know what's best for them, but have you considered that you just might be wrong?

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
We must look at the movements of Venus if we want to see the direction of your romantic and emotional life. Right now, this planet indicates that you'll be requiring intense commitment and security over the coming months. Passions are rising and hopes are high - but that doesn't mean they'll be met!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You have a reputation for being rather staid, even though you have done enough in your life to persuade people otherwise. Indeed, partners may have cause to be shocked by a sudden burst of energy. Still, why shouldn't you spring the odd surprise on them?

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mystical Mercury is making you aware that nothing can be taken for granted. However, any disappointments will be more than compensated for if you actively seek out pleasurable activities and experiences. In any case, you can only gain if you take new enterprises up a gear.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
If you are prepared to pay heed to Mercury's rather eccentric aspects, you will plumb the depths of your psyche, discovering secrets that even you were unaware of. It's a time to solve mysteries, asking friends what they think, and consulting the experts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
In recent weeks, you may have inadvertently alienated people in authority or colleagues who might have been useful to you. On the other hand, there are those who have been deeply impressed by your vigour. Your energy is high at the moment, but you must take care not to burn yourself up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Some of you have had to put up with a series of delays, disappointments and frustrations for months, if not years. However, please open your eyes to the fact that such suffering is not inevitable. If you have any sense you will tackle a rival on your own terms.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Even though there will be those who resist any attempt to reach a binding agreement, you must bring pressure to bear on people who are dragging their heels over finances or property. The ball is in your court, so proceed with your normal appreciation of infinite possibilities.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The planetary influences for the week incline you towards outward-going social activities while those for today bring out your solitary, hermit-like qualities. This contradiction goes some way towards explaining your confusion. If you feel like spending more time by yourself, then so be it!

FRIENDS PUSH 20-YR-OLD IN FRONT OF MOVING TRAIN

Main accused arrested for murdering youth who allegedly tried to get close to his friend's GF; another on the run

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 20-year-old youth was allegedly murdered by his two friends, who pushed him in front of a moving train near Doddanekundi in Byappanahalli railway police limits on Sunday morning.

The deceased has been identified as Ismail Patawegar of Vijayapura. The accused have been identified as Puneeth and Pratap, both hailing from Chitradurga. Police have arrested Puneeth and a search is on for Pratap.

All three lived in a paying guest accommodation at Byappanahalli and worked as drivers for a private company.

Puneeth recently introduced Ismail to his girlfriend. Ismail, however, took her number and started speaking to her. This angered Puneeth.

After a late night booze party, a quarrel broke out between Puneeth and Ismail near the railway tracks at Doddanekundi around 3.30 am. Puneeth and Pratap allegedly pushed Ismail in front of the approaching train. Ismail died on the spot. Later, they placed Ismail's body on the tracks to make it look like an accident.

Railway staff, who saw the body on Sunday morning, alerted the police.

The police said preliminary investigations revealed that it was not an accident as bloodstains were found 10 feet away from the tracks. Also, the victim's last phone call was to one of the accused.

Puneeth, who was taken into custody, confessed to killing Ismail as he was texting and speaking with his girlfriend. Puneeth also confessed that he and Pratap had planned to tell police that Ismail was hit by a train while making a reel for social media.

The police are also probing an allegation that Ismail tried to kill Puneeth and Pratap.

HC imposes Rs 2 lakh cost on 72-yr-old woman over habeas corpus plea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court imposed a punitive cost of Rs 2 lakh on a 72-year-old woman for filing a habeas corpus petition with an ulterior motive seeking directions to the state police to trace her 'missing son'.

Maheshwari M, a resident of Indiranagar in the city, filed the petition to take revenge against the Indiranagar police for not registering a case against the neighbour based on her son's complaint.

Her son accused the neighbour of cultivating ganja on the second floor of his house and causing disturbance by late-night parties. The police conducted an inquiry on the complaint lodged by him and issued an endorsement dated July 1.

"It appears that it is being dissatisfied with the same, to take revenge against the police, the son, colluding with his mother and others, filed this petition. There was apparently no illegal detention, and the writ petition is filed without any bona fides and is an abuse of the process of the court", said a division bench of Justice Anu Sivaraman and Justice Rajesh Rai K while dismissing the petition filed by Maheshwari recently with a cost of Rs 2 lakh to curb frivolous and malicious invocation of habeas corpus.

Maheshwari contended that her son, Kripalani M, was missing from July 7. She enquired with all his friends and relatives regarding her son's suspicious disappearance. Since she was unable to trace him, she filed a habeas corpus petition and later withdrew the same on July 24, stating that "certain erroneous statements have been made in the petition by oversight".

Subsequently, she approached the state police chief by filing a complaint dated July 29 to trace her son. However, the police failed to trace him, and hence she filed the habeas corpus petition. After this, the police traced her son in Chennai on August 5 and produced him before the court on August 7.

The State Public Prosecutor-II (SPP), Vijaykumar Majage, filed a report to the court stating that this petition was filed with the sole intention to harass the Indiranagar police by the mother whose son is a proxy set up by himself. At the time of filing this petition and subsequently, the son was in constant touch with the mother, sister and friend. After filing this petition, the Koramangala police made hectic attempts to trace the person who was staying at a hotel at Semmancheri in Chennai.

When the police informed him to appear before the court, the son abused the police. As such, they sought the help of the jurisdictional police of Chennai to produce him before the court. However, the son assaulted Vinod Kumar, Police Sub Inspector of Semmancheri police station. Hence, a case has been registered against him there. Finally, the police were able to produce him before the court on August 7, the SPP said.

Two minors in the dock for assaulting classmate

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A case has been registered against two first PU students for attacking their classmate in the college washroom over a trivial matter. The victim and the accused are minors. Both students have been suspended by the college principal. The incident happened between 9.45 am and 10.15 am at the college in Hongasandra on Thursday.

An argument broke out between the accused and the victim after a discussion on a sports event held at another college in Bannerghatta on Wednesday. The victim threatened the accused that he would complain to the principal and went to the washroom. The accused followed the victim and allegedly attacked him in the washroom. The accused left the washroom when other students rushed to the rescue of the victim.

C Balaraj, the victim's father, filed a complaint at Bommanahalli police station on Saturday. One of the accused is a resident of Begur Road, while the other is from MICO Layout.

Both students against whom the complaint has been registered have been suspended. Even the accused claimed that they have also been assaulted and they will file a police complaint, the college principal said.

Balaraj said that his son could not breathe properly after the accused punched him on his nose. "My son has to undergo a surgery. One of the accused locked my son in the washroom, while the other assaulted him," he alleged.

The parents of the victim and the accused, and the college principal have been summoned to the police station for an inquiry, a police officer said.

Bommanahalli police have registered a case of wrongful restraint, causing hurt, criminal intimidation and intentional insult with intent to breach peace.

2 held for killing cabbie in drunken brawl

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Byatarayanapura police on Monday arrested two men for allegedly killing their 25-year-old friend during a drunken brawl near Bapuji Nagar on Mysuru Road on Sunday night.

The deceased has been identified as Koushika (25), a cab driver. He was a resident of Bapuji Nagar and hailed from Kolar. The accused, Chandan (27) and Manohar (28), work as painters and are residents of Bapuji Nagar.

According to the police, around 10.30 pm on Sunday, the three were consuming alcohol at a vacant place near Bapuji Nagar. While under the influence, Koushika abused the duo, leading to a quarrel. The matter escalated, and the accused attacked Koushika with a beer bottle and smashed his head with stones. Passersby alerted the police, and a case of murder was registered. Based on CCTV footage and other technical evidence, the duo was arrested on Monday.

GOVT, OPPN TRADE BARBS OVER MADDUR VIOLENCE

Police take out a route march on Monday morning, a day after the violence in Maddur, Mandya district | EXPRESS

Simha: Attack was planned

THE protesters raised slogans against the state government, demanding action against stone-throwers. They tried to storm the police station and taluk office. Some of them allegedly climbed on top of shops belonging to Muslims near Canara Bank Circle and hoisted saffron flags.

The protest was led by BJP district president Dr Indresh, Manmul Director SP Swamy, and leaders of Hindu organisations, who stopped vehicles on the highway. When the protesters reached the main mosque near Kemmannu Nale Circle, they lit camphor and set tires on fire, leading to a verbal clash with the police. Later, the protesters tried to barge into the taluk office to place a Ganesha idol. The police then resorted to a lathicharge, leaving several protesters, including women, injured.

Hearing about the incident, hundreds of activists gathered near the hospital. Arrival of former BJP MP Prathap Simha there further escalated the tension. He alleged that stones and weapons had been stockpiled inside the mosque and urged the police to act against those who "pre-planned the attack on Hindu devotees".

JDS Youth Wing president Nikhil Kumaraswamy demanded Home Minister G Parameshwara's resignation.

"Mandya has always been peaceful, but such attacks, clearly pre-planned, are now recurring. After the Congress government came to power, violence has taken place in Keragodu, Nagamangala and now Maddur. The home minister is responsible," he said.

Protesters temporarily withdrew their agitation in the evening on the condition that the police release Hindu activists detained, and suspend the police personnel involved in the lathicharge. They announced a Maddur Bandh for Tuesday. BJP state president BY Vijayendra and Assembly Opposition Leader R Ashoka are expected to visit the town to press for action against the accused.

SP Mallikharjuna Baladandi confirmed that the police had arrested 21 people for Sunday's violence and they were produced before court and remanded to judicial custody. "Two cases had been filed. One is a suo motu case, while another is by Ajay who was injured in the stone-throwing incident. We are verifying the CCTV footage from the location to trace the miscreants. Elaborate bandobast has been made to prevent any further violence," he said.

Over 1,000 police personnel have been deployed.

The police arrested 21 people on Sunday night. Of them, the police have revealed the identities of 14. They are: Mohd Awaz alias Mullu, Mohd Irfan alias Mia, Nawaz Khan alias Nawaz, Imran Pasha alias Imran, Umar Farooq alias Umar, Syed Dastagir alias Syed Rashid, Qaseef Ahmed alias Qaseef, Ahmed Salman alias Mukkulla, Musaveer Pasha alias Odiya, Qalander Khan, Mohd Aziz, Inayat Pasha, Sumer Pasha and Mohammed Khalim alias Kaif.

CM, minister defend police action, say BJP communalising issue

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah and Agriculture Minister N Chaluvaraya Swamy, also Mandya district incharge minister, here on Monday defended police action of arresting 21 people in Maddur in Mandya district for allegedly throwing stones at a Ganesha immersion procession on Sunday night.

Addressing a joint press conference, they alleged that BJP is communalising the incident for political gains. "BJP leaders are experts in provocation and disturbing peace in society. There was trouble when the procession was passing in front of a mosque. The police lightly lathicharged a group which was rioting and was refusing to move despite warning. The police did not commit any mistake. Rioters have been arrested and action taken, irrespective of their religion," Chaluvaraya Swamy said.

Siddaramaiah said Chaluvaraya Swamy will visit Maddur and give a report, based on which action will be taken. Except Maddur, the state has not reported any incident of communal disturbance during Ganesha immersion processions this year, he added.

"The police have acted as per law. If someone makes a mistake, whether they are from BJP, JDS or Congress, it is a mistake. Who was creating a ruckus by gathering in groups? Whoever is behind this, we will take strict action," he asserted.

BJP trying to increase its base: Minister

"BJP that has no base in Maddur is trying to make use of this communal incident to increase its presence. Congress does not choose to build the party on communalism. Action has been taken by arresting the accused. Let BJP and JDS stage protests, but they should not incite violence," Chaluvaraya Swamy said.

"BJP and JDS, which cannot confront us politically or in the Assembly, are trying to cash in on this incident. We are not appeasing any community. Have we not arrested 21 people (belonging to a particular community)," he asked.

"There was information that stones were thrown from the mosque. No case has been registered against any Hindu. Action was taken within a few hours of the riot," he stated.

"But BJP and some JDS leaders are indulging in provocation. Such an incident has never occurred in Maddur before. We are investigating whether someone from outside started the riot," he asserted.

An inspector general of police and superintendents of police have been appointed to conduct the investigation at the highest level. The probe will examine whether the riots had any political motive behind it.

BJP, JDS hit out at Congress govt, blame its appeasement politics

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Opposition BJP and JDS on Monday hit out at the Congress State Government over the communal violence in Maddur town during a Ganesha immersion procession and the subsequent lathicharge on protestors.

JDS leader and Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy, who is the MP from Mandya, blamed the State Government for hurting the sentiments of Hindus. He said people with vested interests are behind the incident. Meanwhile, Karnataka BJP president BY Vijayendra accused the Congress government of disturbing peace in Mandya district.

Speaking to reporters in New Delhi, Kumaraswamy said that the reason for the incident was the State Government's attitude towards Hindus. "Soon after I got to know about the incident, I spoke to the Mandya deputy commissioner and the superintendent of police and told them to take action against the miscreants. Some decisive forces are trying to put Mandya on fire. Earlier, the same forces caused unrest in Nagamangala in Mandya," the former CM said, blaming the Congress for its appeasement politics. "Congress is inviting its own downfall," he added. He said that the Congress government was acting in a way that upsets the Hindus.

Meanwhile, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said that after the Congress came to power, even Lord Ganesha is in distress. Ashoka said that the Congress treats Hindus as "second-class citizens".

"They spread misinformation about Dharmasthala. Deputy CM DK Shivakumar said that Chamundeshwari temple does not belong only to Hindus. Last year, a similar unrest happened in Nagamangala, and they (police) even took Lord Ganesha to the police station in a police van. In Mandya, they did not allow the hoisting of the Hanuman flag. After the Congress came to power in the state, the toolkit has become very active," Ashoka said.

Saying that Hindus are peace-loving and respect other religions, Vijayendra questioned how Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara could call the lathicharge on women a minor incident. He alleged that the Congress government's anti-Hindu and pro-minority policies have led to the oppression of Hindus. Vijayendra also questioned why communal disturbances are happening in Karnataka. Senior BJP leader and Chief Whip in the Legislative Council N Ravi Kumar claimed that the violence in Maddur was pre-planned. The State Government is systematically targeting Hindus, Ravi Kumar said.

ARRESTED INTERROGATED: HOME MINISTER

Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara in Tumakuru on Monday said, "The police have arrested over 20 people. They have been interrogated. It is not known who indulged in stone-throwing. The truth will be known after the investigation is completed." "The police have restrained themselves to maintain peace. They have persuaded the organisation. When the situation got out of hand, they resorted to lathicharge. If those who have already been arrested threw stones, legal action will be taken against them," Dr Parameshwara said

Dharmasthala row: BJP netas meet Amit Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A delegation of BJP leaders from Karnataka, including state president BY Vijayendra, Opposition Leader R Ashoka, Union minister Pralhad Joshi and others on Monday met Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi, to raise concerns over what they termed "anti-Hindu" developments under the Congress government in Karnataka.

Vijayendra to reporters after the meeting that the delegation had "apprised" the Home Minister of the allegedly "worsening law and order situation" in Karnataka, and growing incidents of communal tension. He referred to the "conspiracy in Dharmasthala", the alleged revenge killing of Suhas Shetty in Mangaluru, and "brutal murder" of Hindu activist Gavisiddappa in Koppal, who belonged to the Nayaka community.

"We haven't submitted a formal report, but have informed the Home Minister about the deteriorating situation and Congress government's repeated targeting of Hindu activists and institutions," Vijayendra stated. "There is a clear pattern of anti-Hindu sentiment being fostered, either through inaction or appeasement," he alleged. The leaders urged the Centre to take cognisance of the situation, and if necessary, step in to ensure justice and safeguard communal harmony. Sources say the inputs by the BJP delegation are being taken seriously. The delegation included LoP in the Council Cheluvadi Narayanswamy, Mangaluru MP Brijesh Chowta, Udupi MP Srinivas Poojari, Yelahanka MLA SR Vishwanath who had organised the 'Dharmasthala Chalo' rally, MLA Harish Poonja and others.

Snehamayi blames Sowjanya's uncle of raping, killing her

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

ACCUSING Vittal Gowda, uncle of late Sowjanya, behind the brutal rape and murder of the girl in 2012, activist Snehamayi Krishna said that he has lodged a complaint with Dakshina Kannada SP Dr Arun K to probe the case.

Speaking to reporters in Mangaluru on Monday, Krishna said, "Real accused in the Sowjanya case must be arrested and punished. Documents and evidence available with me indicate that Sowjanya was raped and murdered by her uncle Vittal Gowda. He used to misbehave with her. When she screamed, he choked her to death using a pillow or a similar item."

"If she was abducted, her bag would have fallen, but it was still there where her body was found. Her family says she did not have food on that day, but during autopsy food was found in her stomach. Those having the intention to rape and murder will not feed the victim. Timings of the incident show she went to Vittal Gowda's house and had food. Vittal Gowda did not go to his hotel that day. He was home. That's when he tried to rape her and murdered. He hid her body and went back to his hotel and when they started searching for her, he made false claims that he had seen her going towards home and after everyone went home, he dumped her body. He tore her uniform and tied her hands using a shawl and left a note with numbers of Prema and Balakrishna to frame them.

If a thorough probe was done earlier, propaganda against Dharmasthala would have been prevented. There is clearly police failure," Snehamayi said, adding that Vittal Gowda must be subjected to narco analysis.

Santhosh Rao who was earlier arrested but acquitted might have been present at the spot and he might have witnessed something or helped them in disposing of the body, Krishna claimed.

YouTubers questioned

Meanhile, the Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the allegations of mass burials in Dharmasthala questioned Kerala-based YouTuber Manaf and another YouTuber Abhishek. Actvist Girish Mattannavar and Jayanth T and Vittal Gowda were also questioned.

RAIN WOES

111 deaths in less than six months: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS many as 111 people died due to heavy rains in the state since April this year and the government has paid a compensation of Rs 5.55 crore. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday held a meeting with Deputy Commissioners and ministers to review the situation. The state recorded 753 mm of rainfall as compared to 721 mm normal rainfall between June first to September first week. The CM directed officials to pay compensation for those who lost/damaged houses and crop loss.

"During the southwest monsoon, 98 per cent sowing has been completed. Of 82.6 lakh hectares, sowing has been completed in 80.76 lakh hectares. At present, crop loss survey is being taken. In the preliminary survey, 4,80,256 hectares agriculture crop loss is reported and 40,407 hectares of horticulture crop loss is reported," said the CM.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, the CM said due to heavy rains during monsoon this year, as many as 683 km of state highways have been damaged. He also noted that 1,383 km district highways, 5,558 km rural roads, 656 culverts/bridges have been damaged. Apart from this, several government buildings, including 1,877 school building, 160 primary health centres, 1018 Anganwadi centres were damaged.

The CM also said 25,279 electric poles and 819 transformers were damaged. As many as 651 houses were damaged completely and 9,087 houses were damaged partially. The government has paid compensation for owners of 649 houses which were damaged completely and 8,608 partially damaged houses.

As many as 766 cattle were killed for which government has paid a compensation of Rs 1.55 crore.

On the crest gates of Tungabhadra dam, the CM said that they had called for tender to replace all 32 crest gates, of which eight gates are ready. He said the change of gates, maintenance and other basic amenities at the dam comes under the Tungabhadra Board, which is under the Union government.

HDK: Upset with Kharge's behaviour towards farmer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

UNION Minister HD Kumaraswamy said he was deeply disappointed by AICC President Mallikarjun Kharge's behaviour towards a farmer who approached him to express his grief over crop loss. "A senior leader should set an example. Instead, you insulted the farmer. This is unacceptable. At the very least, you could have consoled him and wiped away his tears. Your conduct is proof of the traditional arrogance and ego of the Congress party," the Union Minister stated taking to X. Kumaraswamy also tagged a video clip of a conversation between a farmer and the Congress leader.

"From a senior leader, I certainly did not expect such conduct. If a farmer in distress cannot approach you and share his pain, then who else should he turn to? You are the Leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha and the President of the AICC. Yet, you completely forgot these responsibilities while speaking! This does not bring honour to you," he said.

Stating that "display of arrogance towards a farmer who came only to express his grief was unnecessary", the Union Minister said that the Congress leader too may be a tur dal farmer, but how can there be any comparison between a person like him cultivating 40 acres and a poor farmer cultivating just one or two acres? Kumaraswamy stated that a Congress leader told the farmer that he was aware of the situation and asked him not to discuss crop loss for publicity.

Adopt proposals that improve transparency: Priyank to ECI

BENGALURU: Karnataka RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge has urged the Election Commission of India (ECI) to adopt proposals such as a court-monitored ethical hackathon that improve transparency. In a letter to the Chief Election Commissioner (CEC), Priyank said that on December 3, 2024, he had written to the CEC outlining concerns regarding the functioning of EVMs and related procedural vulnerabilities and suggested a constructive solution in the form of a court-monitored ethical hackathon and audit backed by the Government of Karnataka. Priyank said Karnataka is well-placed to carry out such a transparent exercise under judicial and industry oversight to rigorously test the EVM architecture and address public perception issues around electoral integrity. "At a time when serious questions are being raised about the independence of institutions and the integrity of our elections, it becomes even more urgent to adopt proposals that improve transparency. Ignoring them only deepens doubts," he wrote in his letter to the CEC. He urged the ECI to act on the proposal at the earliest, in the interest of preserving public trust in democracy.

Three men were arrested on Monday on the charge of gang-rape of a woman at a coconut grove at Navlak in Ranipet, Tamil Nadu. The accused followed the 19-year-old victim when she was returning home with a male friend on a two-wheeler around 10 pm on Sunday, intercepted them attacked the friend, and raped her

BJD will maintain equidistance from NDA, INDIA bloc: Party MP

Party's decision will indirectly help the NDA candidate, says Congress and BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar

THE BJD on Monday announced that it will abstain from voting in the Vice-Presidential elections, citing its stand of equidistance from both NDA and INDIA bloc.

The poll will be held on Tuesday in which NDA candidate and Maharashtra Governor CP Radhakrishnan will face INDIA bloc's nominee and former Supreme Court judge B Sudershan Reddy.

The decision was taken during a meeting by BJD president Naveen Patnaik with the party's seven Rajya Sabha members in New Delhi on the day. BJD Rajya Sabha MP Sasmit Patra said the decision was taken following a discussion between the party president, the political affairs committee (PAC), MPs and other senior leaders. The party has no representation in the Lok Sabha.

"The BJD has decided to abstain from the V-P election. Our party continues to maintain equal distance from both the NDA and the INDIA alliances. We remain focused on the development and welfare of Odisha and its 4.5 crore people," the BJD MP asserted.

Meanwhile, though the decision has been welcomed by the BJP, the Congress has strongly reacted to it. Union Tribal Affairs minister Jual Oram said, "The BJD has indirectly supported us (the NDA) by deciding to abstain from voting," he added.

President of Odisha Pradesh Congress Committee (OPCC) Bhakta Charan Das said, "It has been proved again that the BJD and BJP are one. Abstaining from voting is like supporting the NDA candidate," he said.

However, member of BJD's PAC Sanjay Das Burma said the party has never compromised with the state's interest. "BJD's decision has shaken the two national parties - BJP and Congress. The party president has always worked to make Odisha strong. BJD is still the number one party in Odisha," he said.

CONG ACCUSES BRS OF TRYING TO INDIRECTLY HELP NDA CANDIDATE

Hyderabad: The Congress on Monday launched a sharp attack on the BRS over its ambiguous stand on the upcoming vice-presidential election. The BRS, which claims to maintain equal distance from both the NDA and INDIA blocs, is now under fire from the ruling Congress in the state. The Congress leaders argue that if the BRS abstains from voting, it would amount to indirectly helping the BJP. Congress MPs, ministers, and MLAs are accusing the BRS of colluding with the saffron party. They question why the BRS cannot take a clear position like the YSRCP in Andhra Pradesh, which openly declared its support to NDA nominee CP Radhakrishnan. ENS

Anna Bhagya beneficiaries to get locally grown foodgrains: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah said on Monday that the state government is considering a proposal to distribute locally grown foodgrains to beneficiaries instead of rice under the Anna Bhagya scheme Siddaramaiah, who held a meeting to review the progress achieved in the implementation of the guarantee schemes, said Rs 97,813 crore has been spent on them so far. The CM directed the officials at the panchayat level to delete the names of the dead beneficiaries every month. The list of deleted names should be sent to the banks also. The beneficiaries' list should be revised every month. BPL cards of ineligible beneficiaries should be cancelled at the panchayath level without any delay, he said.

Siddaramaiah told the officials to clear the confusion over transfer of money to beneficiaries under the Gruhalakshmi scheme. Those paying GST or income tax are not eligible for the scheme. The CM also told the officials to take steps to prevent the sale of rice under the Anna Bhagya scheme in black market.

According to officials, the syndicate was moving proceeds from drug sales through a hawala system. Part of the funds were being routed to Nigeria via Mumbai, pointing to international links. EAGLE teams had reportedly been stationed undercover in Mumbai for several days before the operation.

Women in labour refuse delivery during eclipse

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

AN extraordinary incident took place at the Ballari District Hospital when many pregnant women in active labour reportedly declined to undergo delivery during a lunar eclipse, citing deeply rooted traditional beliefs. According to hospital sources, despite experiencing intense labour pains, the women refused to enter the operating theatre, insisting they would postpone their deliveries until the eclipse concluded the following day.

Despite medical counsel, the women remained staunch in their conviction that delivering during a lunar eclipse could pose immense risks to both the newborn and the mother.

The situation escalated when the oxygen saturation levels of two women began to diminish, which made hospital authorities take urgent measures. Senior physicians rushed to the ward and successfully persuaded the women and their families about the immediate health hazards involved.

In contemporary society, the influence of social media has proven to be particularly effective on both expectant parents and pregnant women. To circumvent certain beliefs perpetuated by various astrologers and social media influencers, many individuals are now heeding medical advice. Yet, misconceptions persist regarding the necessity to abstain from food, sleep, and even work during a lunar eclipse. Fortunately, the government doctors in Ballari managed to convince the women to proceed with their deliveries.

Dr Ramesh Babu Y, District Health Officer of Ballari, remarked on the prevalence of certain beliefs that discourage any activities during a lunar eclipse, particularly among pregnant women and those in labour. He stressed that it is vital to disregard such notions. "Whenever women experience major labour pain or other pregnancy-related health issues, immediate action must be taken without regard to superstitions about auspicious or inauspicious timings. A similar scenario confronted our medical staff during the last lunar eclipse on Sunday, but they remained undeterred, facilitating numerous births on that day". Another senior doctor described the challenging circumstances during the lunar eclipse on Sunday, pointing out that women in the labour room were reluctant to comply with medical advice, even as they experienced severe labour pains. In one instance, when a woman's oxygen saturation levels decreased, immediate surgical intervention was undertaken.

'AIADMK will be in ICU soon; CM Stalin will save them as well'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

DEPUTY Chief Minister Udhayanidhi Stalin on Monday criticised leader of the opposition Edappadi K Palaniswami and said that the AIADMK will soon be admitted in Intensive Care Unit (ICU).

He made the remark while referring to few recent incidents of AIADMK cadre stopping ambulances that tried to navigate the crowd gathered in places where Palaniswami was talking as part of his ongoing campaign across the state. Palaniswami himself had alleged and warned personnel in an ambulance for deliberately trying to "disrupt" his meetings at the behest of the ruling party.

Speaking at the inauguration of new buildings for a hospital in Saidapet, Udhayanidhi said, "I would like to tell the LoP that you are trying to stop ambulances today. However, you do not understand that the Tamil Nadu people will soon create a situation that would take your party in an ambulance. Your organisation will soon be admitted in ICU. Our CM will take the responsibility of saving you as well."

Meanwhile, at Saidapet, Udhayanidhi inaugurated a government hospital at Saidapet constructed at a cost of Rs 28.75 crores on Monday.

The 120-bed hospital is located in a way that will benefit not only the people of Saidapet but also those in surrounding areas, the release quoted the Deputy CM as saying.

The government is ensuring education and health Medical services are available to all areas. Udhayanidhi Stalin said that 208 Urban Health and Wellness Centres were inaugurated by the Chief Minister.

The Chief Minister said that medical services should be provided to the people at their doorsteps during the Covid period, the Deputy CM added.

'Religion issue to be settled after Mahasabha talks'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

THE pontiff of Shirahatti Fakeer Muttt, Dingaleshwara Swami, on Monday said the 'religion question' would be settled after the seers hold talks with Akhila Bharata Veerashaiva Mahasabha in Bengaluru on September 11. The Mahasabha had earlier appealed to the Veerashaiva-Lingyatas to specify their religion under the 'Others' column in the the Socio-Educational Survey to be conducted by the Karnataka Backwards Class Commission.

The seer said 'Basava Samskuti Yatra' led by Siddararama Swamiji of Gadag Tontadrya Mutt, is an attempt to create divide between Veerashaivas and Lingayats. In 2017-18, these forces agitated under the banner of Lingyata Prtyeka Dharama Horata Samiti. Now, the same forces are creating fissures in the communities asking to mark their religion as Basava Dharma.

He also asked why the issue of separate religion status for Lingyats comes up whenever the Congress is in power.

He said Siddararama Swamiji is going against Basavanna's principles. The Gadag Mutt has been running three schools where Vidika practices are taught. How come a seer is preaching Basava Samskruti while practising against its principles, he asked.

He said Veerashia Lingayata Ekata Samavesha, a convention for unity among the communities, will be held in Hubballi on September 19.

MLA Veerendra sent to judicial custody

Bengaluru: Nearly two weeks after his arrest, a special court on Monday sent Chitradurga Congress MLA KC Veerendra to judicial custody. He was arrested by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) in connection with allegations of illegal online and offline betting. The sleuths produced Veerendra before the special court that try cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs. The judge remanded him in judicial custody till September 23. Veerendra was arrested under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act on August 23, a day after ED conducted raids on 30 of his premises, which led to the seizure of Rs 12 crore in cash, including Rs 1 crore in foreign currency, gold jewellery worth Rs 6 crore, about 10 kg of silver articles, and four vehicles. The sleuths nabbed him from Gangtok, the capital of Sikkim, and later brought him to Bengaluru, where he was taken into police custody. The central agency subsequently conducted two more raids. ENS

Undergraduates to be trained for BFSI

Bengaluru: The Bengaluru Chapter of BFSI Consortium was launched in collaboration with the Department of Electronics, IT & BT, and the Department of Higher Education on Monday. The initiative aims to bridge the education-to-employability gap in the state and will introduce industry-vetted curricula to undergraduate institutions across the state. According to a release shared by BFSI (Banking, Financial Services, and Insurance), "Through this programme, students will gain domain, technical and behavioural training, complemented by experiential projects and internships with leading banks, insurers, and fintech companies." The BFSI sector in India suffers from an estimated deficit of 1.5 million skilled professionals, a figure that is projected to soar to 3 million by 2030. ENS

Mumbai drug-hawala case: TG narco force arrests 24

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

CLOSE on the heels of the massive drugs bust by Maharashtra Police in Hyderabad, which uncovered narcotics valued at an estimated ₹12,000 crore, Telangana's elite anti-drugs task force, EAGLE, on Monday reportedly dismantled a drugs and hawala network in Mumbai.

A senior EAGLE official confirmed that special teams conducted raids in Mumbai, resulting in the arrest of 24 individuals, including 14 businessmen from the city. "Acting on credible intelligence, the teams also carried out raids in parts of Pune to trace suspects linked to the wider network," the official said.

According to officials, the syndicate was moving proceeds from drug sales through a hawala system. Part of the funds were being routed to Nigeria via Mumbai, pointing to international links. EAGLE teams had reportedly been stationed undercover in Mumbai for several days before the operation.

The Maharashtra Police had worked for over a month to establish the case. A constable was deployed as a decoy labourer inside Vagdevi Laboratories to confirm the manufacturing of narcotics. After securing evidence, raids were carried out, leading to the arrest of prime accused Srinivas Vijay Oleti and his associate Tanaji Pandarinath Patwari, a chemical expert.

The crackdown began when police intercepted a 23-year-old Bangladeshi, Fatima Murad Shaikh alias Molla, in Mira Road East, Thane district. She was found carrying 105 grams of mephedrone. Further investigations led to the seizure of 178 grams of the drug and ₹23.97 lakh in cash from multiple suspects, exposing a larger trafficking syndicate. Probes revealed that the supply chain traced back to Telangana.

Acting on this lead, Police Inspector Pramod Badakh and his Cell-4 team travelled to Telangana. Their investigation pointed to Srinivas Vijay Voleti and his associate Tanaji Pandharinath Patwari, who were allegedly operating a drug manufacturing unit in Cherapalli, Navodaya Colony. In the raid conducted on Friday, the duo was arrested along with others involved in the network.

REST OF INDIA CAN LEARN FROM KERALA IN FACING POPULATION CHALLENGE

INDIA needs to learn coping with an increasingly ageing population. That's the message contained in the latest Sample Registration Survey report. The data show that the nation's total fertility rate (TFR) has decreased to 1.9 in 2023, after remaining constant at 2.0 in 2021 and 2022. At the same time, TFR for rural India has touched 2.1—the replacement level where births and deaths balance out each other, leading to population stability. While the fall in TFR is a significant demographic marker for India catching up with global population trends, this poses a new challenge for the country as a whole, though some regions like the south have been dealing with an ageing population for some time now.

The implications of ageing demographic are significant and enduring. While the initial phase of low fertility certainly comes with a demographic dividend—a larger working-age population—in the long run, an ageing population poses major socio-economic challenges. A fall in the working-age population and a rise in the dependent population can hurt productivity and overburden the healthcare sector. It surely necessitates changes in systems and policies.

India is caught between a present opportunity and a future worry—and must be prepared to deal with both. The current age distribution is a window of opportunity for growth that could last another couple of decades. It's what comes later that warrants some meticulous planning. And while planning, India should take into account the disparity in population trends across the country. For example, Kerala's fertility rate has been declining since 1971, and it is already dealing with the challenge of the growing elderly numbers and a shrinking working-age population.

There are pointers for the country in how Kerala is handling the situation. Apart from its health and entrepreneurial schemes targeted at the elderly and projects to strengthen geriatric and palliative care, Kerala's Senior Citizens Commission, formed recently to ensure the welfare and protection of senior citizens, and the proposed Kerala State Policy for Elder Persons, 2025, which promises a 'Kerala model of ageing' through participation of local bodies, healthcare providers and non-governmental organisations, are worth a look. India must formulate policies and allocate adequate resources to address the unique needs of a growing elderly population and deal with the potential economic and social implications.

MEN'S HOCKEY IN GOOD SHAPE BEFORE A BIG YEAR

THE Indian men's team can now plan ahead for the 2026 World Cup in the Netherlands and Belgium. On Sunday night, they re-emphasised their continental credentials with a commanding 4-1 win over South Korea, the defending Asia Cup champions. It was a performance full of verve, creativity and a lot of problem-solving. It also showed how this team continues to evolve under coach Craig Fulton. Earlier this year, when the men's team was in the middle of a losing spree in the European leg of the Pro League—forwards seemingly unable to finish and senior players making uncharacteristic errors—the coach may have wondered if his job would be on the line. But Hockey India let calm prevail before having a talk with the support staff and players upon their return. They re-emphasised their faith in the South African, his staff and the players. Even if some fans were getting concerned about the results, Hockey India never lost faith—they told Fulton that he would be there till at least next year's World Cup, even though the team was yet to qualify then.

The tournament in Bihar showed why they trust him and these players, and why the faith is not misplaced. It's not that India, quite clearly a continental powerhouse holding all three Asian senior titles, had an easy outing for the last 10 days. In the afternoon games, they took their time to get going. In some other encounters against seemingly inferior oppositions, their forwards kept missing, showing a lack of composure in the big moments. However, they persevered to win the title. Now, the bigger challenge is of competing with the world's best at the World Cup while ensuring the bench strength necessary to win the Asian Games to seal an Olympics spot as well. These players are building a rich legacy—two Olympic medals and a hat-trick of Asian titles—but the one missing piece in the trophy cupboard is a big one. With India approaching a massive 2026, they are in a good headspace. They need to keep building on it with more competitions and a greater consistency against Europe's best and Australia, apart from identifying the strong reserves. If they can scratch that itch, Fulton's legacy will be secure.

QUICK TAKE

IMAGINING JURASSIC INDIA

IT'S probably the coldest case to have been solved. University of Leicester palaeontologists have revealed why baby pterosaurs, the earliest known flying reptiles, died in large numbers before being frozen in the Solnhofen limestones. They claim that violent tropical storms sweeping ancient lagoons in what's now southern Germany was the reason. To legions of dinosaur lovers, it answers an old, intriguing question. To the rest, it should be a lesson in how science can use popular interest to attract attention. Jaisalmer is home to fossils of Tharosaurus indicus; many others have been found along the Narmada Valley. There is even one named to honour Rabindranath Tagore: Barapasaurus tagorei. Where are the films and stories around them to fire the imagination of young Indian minds?

THE LONELINESS BUG BITING INDIA'S WORKING YOUNG

HARISH BIJOOR

SOURAV ROY

THE seed of this column was planted exactly 14 months ago. I was delivering the inaugural keynote address at an offsite in Udaipur for an IT firm of repute. There were 350 people in the audience from the key client-facing realm of bleeding-edge work. My hour-long address was followed by a question-answer session. At the end of 20 minutes of Q&A, I decided to reverse the format and said would give questions to the audience that anyone could answer. I got to ask just one question though—as about 40 people wanted to answer that one first question. The answers shook me up a bit. It has been the subject of my probe in corporate organisations over the last year, and it is the subject of my column today.

The question, then: "What is the biggest regret of your working life to date as an employee and a human being, in that order?" Surprisingly, the answers were all more or less the same, all pointing to a cluster of thoughts that led one to the narrow alley of loneliness. Loneliness seems to be the biggest corporate disease around. The working person is today more lonely than ever. While some realise it, others don't.

Everyone, however, is making some kind of effort to fill in this vacuum. The working man and woman are lonely. The younger ones seem more prone to this 'disease' than the older ones. The married ones who started a family rather young seem to have escaped, while those still single and looking to form relationships seem to be on a different boat altogether. This is a massive ship of the lonely that's lurking.

The working young—in the age bracket of 25-35—seem to be working just too hard. There is very little time for them to devote to relationships of any kind. There is the parent at home, the grandparent for some, and then there are friends. Most of these friends are from school and college. New friends at the workplace are really considered a peripheral set of folk with whom they interact, drink, eat, party and work with. As for newer-still friends, there is just no time to make.

The conspiracy deepens. Most working people in the new-age work centres concentrated in cities such as Bengaluru, Chennai, Pune, Hyderabad, Gurugram and the like are migrants. Most leave their hometowns to slap on precious work-experience in the big cities of our tech workplaces. Coincidentally, this is true for spaces such as IT, biotech, retail, gaming, aviation and even more spaces that capture the imagination of the new-age worker.

When you leave Bhubaneswar to work in Bengaluru, you have left your home, your relatives, your friends, your local food and, more importantly, everything that you are most familiar with. You uproot and land in a city where everything is new. Making friends in the new city is possibly the most daunting task at hand. In any case, where do you have the time when all you do is work and party? You work five days a week, sleep an entire day on the weekend to recover, and party again in the evenings to show that you belong to the new city that has gobbled you up.

Time then flies. The days grow into months, and the months into years. The youngster who entered the city has morphed. Work-wise, there is growth and income-wise there is plenty to talk about; but in terms of relationships, there is very little to report. In the bargain, the big city is today filled with working people in their late 20s and early 30s who have no one to call their own in reality.

Yes, some relationships do start at the work-place and do flourish as well, but these are far and few. In most cases, there is so little time to devote to building relationships that a new relationship is itself considered to be a pain and a drain on precious time. The shortcut is therefore adopted—when the physical way just does not work, go virtual.

And there begins a new story. I work with a client in the space of a popular dating app. I have dived deep into data, and find dating apps to have two different avatars. One is the serious-dating type, where the objective is a relationship, and the other is the quest for a one-night stand and a hookup. To those who do not understand these two terms, they just mean the same. A casual sexual fling with no further expectation at all.

The young at our modern workspaces have redefined the very process in which they cater to their needs and wants. The needs and wants are immediate and need to be catered to. The dating app, social mixers of every kind (speed-dating included), and the clubs and pubs of the day are spaces that facilitate a fair bit of these needs and wants. When it comes to desires and aspirations of building long-term relationships, perennial postponement is the norm.

The young in our workspaces are, therefore, lonelier than ever when they wake up on a Monday morning to face a full week of hectic work. They look forward to the weekend and the sleep-and-party routine with equal fervour on a Monday. And therefore in the big city, the bachelor lifestyle is a work-sleep-party routine and a repeat the next week. You never realise when you turned 30 and when that turned 35.

In closing, let me just put a few disparate but telling nuggets of data from the corporate workspaces I have researched: 14 in number over the last 12 months. Some 56 percent of the young are lonely and express it; 23 percent think it but deny; the other 21 percent say they are not lonely. Gender-wise, the women (64 percent) express it more loudly than the men (36 percent). The women are concerned about it more than the men. Also, 4 percent of women and 19 percent men have tried a dating app. And it goes on. I have a lot of data at hand; but the purpose of this piece is not to impress you with the data as much as to bring to the forefront a big issue in the life of the working young today: loneliness.

As the loneliness bug bites more and more, I do believe we are going to come a full circle later than sooner. In the biggest of cities with the most modern workspaces, the new way of getting less lonely is going to be that much-thrashed and trashed institution of marriage. And guess what, the most modern, the most educated, the most liberated and the most prosperous in our cities will embrace an older form of marriage—the arranged marriage. When you can't make your own relationships happen, your parents just might have to. Touché.

THE DIFFERENCE A GAP-YEAR MAKES

JOHN J KENNEDY

Former Professor and Dean, Christ (Deemed) University, Bengaluru

WHAT does it truly mean to educate a young person? Is it simply about filling their heads with formulas, dates, and grammar rules, or something more profound and lasting? Is education supposed to only prepare students to pass exams and get jobs, or should it also shape them into thoughtful, independent, and self-aware human beings who can navigate life with confidence? Denmark appears to have answered these questions in a manner few other countries have dared to attempt. Its fascinating efterskole system offers 15-year-olds a precious gift: an entire year spent not chasing grades or test scores, but exploring who they are, what they enjoy, and how to live well with others. This isn't a dream for nearly one in three Danish teens—it's a reality.

For that year, these young people live at a boarding school. They cook their meals, clean their rooms, share chores, and learn to manage their daily lives. Sure, they still study core school subjects like math and languages, but the real focus is personal growth. Music, drama, art, sports, or technology become pathways of self-expression. There are no formal exams; no cramming for tests. Instead, they learn something most school systems forget to teach: how to be human. And the results are striking.

Research shows Danish students attending efterskole are more likely to finish high school. But more than that, they emerge from the experience as confident, adaptable, and emotionally mature young adults. They are better equipped not only to study but also to live. They know how to share space with others, handle conflicts, and organise themselves; most importantly, they have a better understanding of who they are.

Ireland offers a similar, though slightly shorter, experience called the 'transition year'. Students there also take a break from conventional studies to explore the arts, work experiences, and new skills. It is no coincidence that actors like Cillian Murphy and Paul Mescal credit this year for shaping their careers. Germany's Waldorf schools and Finland's student-centred models share echoes of this holistic approach. Even the American 'gap year' before university serves a related purpose, helping young people pause, think, and grow before plunging into adulthood.

However, there is an uncomfortable truth here. This model, as beautiful as it is, depends heavily on wealth, social trust, and government support. Denmark can afford this because its tax-funded welfare system makes education accessible even to middle-class families. Boarding, supervision, extracurricular freedom—all of this costs money. For poorer countries, such a system feels impossibly distant.

Culture matters, too. In nations like India, Nigeria, or Bangladesh, education is often seen as a survival tool—a high-pressure ladder to escape poverty. Parents want their children to focus on medicine, engineering, and law, not poetry, pottery, or self-discovery. A year spent learning to 'find oneself' sounds like a luxury that low-income families cannot afford.

IDS

Denmark's efterskole system offers 15-year-olds the choice of spending a year pursuing personal growth, not exams. It turns out more self-aware, independent adults. Innovations like Tamil Nadu's activity-based learning take off from similar ideas

So, is efterskole just a rich country's indulgence? Not necessarily. Although poorer nations may not be able to copy the model entirely, its spirit—the belief that young people need space to grow as humans, not just as workers—can still be adopted in practical ways.

India has already taken quiet but meaningful steps in this direction. Though the system remains largely exam-focused, there have been notable shifts. One standout is Tamil Nadu's activity-based learning (ABL) programme, introduced in 2007 for early grades in government and aided schools. ABL breaks from rote learning, offering child-friendly, activity-driven, and self-paced education. Instead of lectures and memorisation, students learn through activity cards and visual ladders, progressing at their own pace. Multi-age, multi-level classrooms further encourage collaboration and dissolve rigid hierarchies.

What makes ABL especially significant is its deliberate focus on non-cognitive outcomes: student confidence, social interaction, emotional engagement, and curiosity. These are the very foundations of the efterskole philosophy, minus the dormitories and year-long immersion. And the results are encouraging: improved learning outcomes, lower dropout rates, stronger teacher-student bonds, and higher student participation.

While ABL focuses on younger students, its spirit can, and should, reach higher levels. Across India, various initiatives, from life skills programmes to youth leadership camps, are already blending academic and emotional learning. In many ways, these are Indian versions of the efterskole idea. They may not resemble Danish boarding schools, but they share the same goal: educating the whole person. Short retreats, arts workshops, and community service projects could be scaled up across schools, giving teens space to explore, collaborate, and grow, without disrupting their academic path.

None of these efforts will succeed unless parents and policymakers begin to value what is not easily measured: confidence, empathy, problem-solving, and resilience. These are not soft extras but survival skills in a changing world. Today, employers from tech to healthcare rank emotional intelligence, communication, and adaptability among the top hiring priorities. The world is shifting, and so must education.

The message from the efterskole model is universal: teenagers deserve more than academic drilling. They deserve the chance to learn how to live. And countries like India are proving that even in resource-constrained settings, honouring that message in context-appropriate ways is possible. (Views are personal)

Water scientist says immediate need is to strengthen adaptation policies, while 'Waterman of India' calls it a man-made disaster

'Can't control weather extremes, but can reduce our vulnerability'

DR Ashwini Ranade, Senior Scientist at the Centre for Cryosphere and Climate Change Studies, National Institute of Hydrology, Roorkee, cautions in an interview with Harpreet Bajwa that the Himalayas are now also prone to occurrences of Compound Extremes. Region-specific early warning systems and strong adaptation and mitigation policies are the only answer, she asserts. Excerpts:

Do the extreme weather events across the hill states constitute a climate emergency?

I would not call it a climate emergency, but yes, climate change is the main driver. Clear changes in rainfall patterns and intensities are evident. However, the real emergency is to strengthen adaptation and mitigation policies. Since we cannot control the occurrences of extremes, we need these policies to reduce our vulnerability.

Have past events spurred climate change?

Extreme events themselves do not accelerate climate change, but they are strong indicators of the climate change we are currently experiencing. Not only are natural factors involved, but anthropogenic factors are also playing a major role.

For example, recent instances of urban flooding in Delhi, Bengaluru, and Chennai show the issue is not limited to the Himalayas. The major reason for urban flooding is also the lack of proper drainage systems, secondary emergency drainage channels, and permissible land use.

Is the tragedy unfolding in the hill states man-made? Are growing encroachments weakening river embankments in Punjab?

Climate change is intensifying extreme events, but the disastrous situation is worsening due to human errors such as encroachments and unplanned development in floodplain zones. The public also needs to be educated; if people continue to live in unsafe zones without relocation, they will remain highly vulnerable. We need to understand that the Himalayas are a very fragile system. Not all slopes in the Himalayas are suitable for infrastructure, and in unstable areas, development should be completely restricted.

In Punjab, the flood situation also occurs because of the release of excess water from upstream dams. To control this water, various embankments are constructed. However, many of them are breached, and numerous dry channels are encroached upon.

List the specific reasons for the climate calamities.

In the Himalayan region, the primary reason for climate change is global warming. A rise of about one degree in temperature leads to nearly a 7 percent increase in atmospheric moisture, and this increased moisture results in heavier rainfall. Another reason is the alteration in monsoon patterns due to global climate change. Now, the Himalayas are also prone to occurrences of Compound Extremes.

In Punjab, there are three major reasons. First, persistent rainfall often occurs since the second week of August. Second, heavy rainfall in Himachal Pradesh increases inflows in the Sutlej, Beas, and Ravi rivers, which flow downstream into Punjab. Third, encroachments on dry channels and the weakening and breaching of embankments worsen flooding by obstructing natural drainage.

Do we need a national plan for climate change?

The government is already developing a national adaptation plan for climate change, as well as plans for various sectors, including agriculture, water, health, and energy. Our institute is also contributing to these efforts.

Is it a collective failure on the part of scientists, weather and agriculture experts, state governments, and the Centre?

I would not call it a collective failure, because everyone is working in their own domain—scientists are identifying causes and solutions, and governments are investing significant resources in planning and policies. The real issue is the lack of coordination among these different agencies.

What immediate and long-term measures would you suggest?

We need to develop early warning systems, define the roles of the public and private sectors, build resilient water supply systems and energy infrastructure and convince people to relocate from unsafe zones.

Verbatim

'Must have political will for climate change mitigation'

JAL Purush (Waterman of India), Dr Rajendra Singh, the renowned river rejuvenator and environmentalist and recipient of the Stockholm Water Prize and Earth Repair Award, tells Harpreet Bajwa that political will is needed to implement adaptation and mitigation policies for climate change, besides putting in place early warning systems. Excerpts:

Is this a climate emergency, given the recent extreme weather events?

This is a climate emergency created by our education system. Our system has various definitions of development. This development led to the displacement of our natural knowledge system, followed by destruction and disaster. This disaster and its impact on the education system are causing cloud bursts and heavy rainfall in the Himalayan region. I am in the highest regions in Leh, and one can see the effects of climate change. So, there is an increase in climate refugees. People from the Himalayan region are migrating to cities as concrete constructions are now being built in this region.

Do you think the events of the recent past has fast-forwarded climate change?

Climate change began a few decades ago, but it has now accelerated due to a range of factors. For example, in the Himalayan region, corporations have established mega projects, drawing people to work in this fragile landscape.

Isn't this a man-made tragedy?

I can say, based on my 50 years of experience in nature conservation and management of water and soil, that this disaster is completely man-made. We are working against nature, and it never forgives us. These disasters are occurring due to unplanned development. In the name of development, we ensure that more disasters occur.

Can you list the reasons for the calamities in the Himalayan region?

This is all due to "greedy development". They are destroying nature, cutting mountains, building all-weather roads, and undertaking infrastructure projects, including dams. This region cannot take such big projects. In the name of this development, we are creating disaster in the Himalayan region. The political leaders are not listening to the people, experts, and ecologists.

Do we need a national plan for climate change?

We need national, regional, and local plans. We have not yet created an agro-ecological and climatic diversity-based map. The government has not yet considered a geo-cultural map. No map or design has been created so far to help us avoid such disasters. Also, plans for agro-ecological boundaries are needed.

Can we say it is a collective failure of all stakeholders?

Politicians are not listening to scientists, engineers, and planners, the latter claim. On the other hand, the political class blames them for not informing them in a timely manner about what can be done. Each of them is blaming the other. However, I will say that the necessary political will is not there. It is a complete failure.

India to Belgium: Medical care & personal space for Choksi in jail, if extradited

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

INDIA has furnished a formal letter of assurance to the Ministry of Justice, Kingdom of Belgium, and the competent Belgian judicial authorities detailing the conditions under which fugitive Indian diamond merchant Mehul Choksi, wanted in the Bank Fraud case here, would be detained, if he is extradited from that country.

In a letter, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has assured the Belgian authority after consulting the Maharashtra Government and prison authorities there. In the letter, the MHA has set out specific material, medical and procedural safeguards intended to address human rights concerns raised during the extradition proceedings in Belgium, where Choksi is under detention.

"The assurances were submitted in connection with India's request for the surrender of Mehul Choksi in a Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) case. Choksi is accused under various provisions of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) and relevant sections of the Prevention of Corruption Act (POCA), 1988," a senior official said.

In the letter the MHA has given detailed specifications on facilities like occupancy limits, medical provisions and oversight mechanisms. Noting that the India seeks to offer Belgian judicial authorities concrete and operational guarantees that Choksi's detention will conform to accepted minimum standards, the officials said that the MHA has specified Barrack No. 12 at Arthur Road Jail in Mumbai as the designated facility for Choksi's detention.

The ministry has also outlined several binding guarantees "to ensure humane and dignified treatment". It said, "Each detainee will be provided a minimum of three-square metres of personal space, excluding furniture, in accordance with norms set by the Council of Europe's Committee for the Prevention of Torture (CPT)."

China says Trump tariff on 'good neighbour India' unfair

JAYANTH JACOB @New Delhi

CHINESE Ambassador to India Xu Feihong on Monday said the India-China relationship is "not impacted by any third party," a remark that appears to dismiss any speculation about Pakistan's influence over Beijing impacting his country's engagement with New Delhi.

Addressing a seminar marking the 80th anniversary of the end of World War II, the ambassador also reiterated that both India and China have been "victims of terrorism" and should cooperate more deeply to tackle the threat.

Ambassador Xu stated that New Delhi and Beijing have reached "important consensus" on boundary issues, and that the Working Mechanism for Consultation and Coordination (WMCC) is currently working on what he called an "early harvest package." While no further details were shared, the language signals that Beijing is keen on addressing the border question.The ambassador also emphasised that the trajectory of India-China relations should be viewed from a long-term strategic perspective, not limited by tactical disagreements. "It should be the right choice for China and India to be good-neighbourly friends and partners that help each other succeed," he said.

People-to-people ties robust, says Xu Feihong

Xu pointed out that Chinese diplomatic missions in India had issued more than 240,000 visas to Indian citizens this year. He also announced that direct commercial flights between the two countries are expected to resume shortly and described the reopening of pilgrimage routes to Tibet as a positive development.

Xu struck a notably economic tone when highlighting the trade relationship between the two countries. According to him, bilateral trade hit $88 billion in the first seven months of 2025, marking a 10.5% increase year-on-year. Citing robust people-to-people ties, Xu pointed out that Chinese diplomatic missions in India had issued more than 240,000 visas to Indian citizens this year. He also announced that direct commercial flights between the two countries are expected to resume shortly and described the reopening of pilgrimage routes to Tibet as a positive development. "These steps show that our people want closer engagement. We are ready to enhance exchanges across all sectors—including youth, think tanks, political parties, and media."

Ambassador Xu also called Washington's actions "unfair" and part of a broader pattern of trade weaponisation. "We must oppose any form of tariff and trade wars. China and India should work together to safeguard the multilateral trading system and the common interests of developing countries," he said.

Zelenskyy backs US tariff on India over Russian ties amid Modi's peace push

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

UKRAINIAN President Volodymyr Zelenskyy has voiced strong support for the US tariffs on countries maintaining trade and strategic relations with Russia, specifically naming India, despite New Delhi's recent diplomatic push for an end to the conflict in Ukraine.

In an interview with ABC News, Zelenskyy said, "I think the idea to put tariffs on the country... continuing to make deals with Russia is the right idea." His comments come amid a renewed push by the Trump administration to expand sanctions against Moscow following an inconclusive summit between US President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin in Alaska.

Zelenskyy's remarks were in response to questions about Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi's participation in a recent SCO summit in China, where Modi was seen alongside the leaders of Russia and China. While India has publicly reiterated its call for peace in Ukraine, Kyiv appears increasingly frustrated by New Delhi's continued energy and defense ties with Moscow.

National Economic Council Director Kevin Hassett underscored that frustration, singling out India in the context of upcoming sanctions. "At the National Economic Council, we are responsible for making sure that sanctions get enforced, and that people who are helping Russia with its war against Ukraine... for example, what India has been doing by buying Russian oil... that we're ready to respond to them economically." "There's going to be a lot of talk today and tomorrow about the level of sanctions and the timing of sanctions," he added, suggesting new economic measures could be imminent.

Despite mounting pressure from the West, India has redoubled efforts to broker peace. Modi spoke to Zelenskyy twice last month, reaffirming India's commitment to a diplomatic solution.

Indo-US ties: Flying through turbulence, but hopes steady on strategic track

JAYANTH JACOB @New Delhi

DESPITE renewed tensions over India's energy ties with Russia and public unease, India and the US are working, often behind the scenes, to stabilise their relationship and navigate a tricky diplomatic patch.

Far from signalling rupture, both governments are actively negotiating the headwinds with a shared recognition that their strategic partnership is too important to stall.

While political statements certainly muddy the waters, the engine of diplomacy is running quiet hopefully.

Officials from both sides have been engaged in a range of structured and informal talks aimed at reinforcing areas of convergence from defence and technology to the Indo-Pacific, while carefully managing sensitive issues such as Russia.

"The tone may shift from time to time, but the direction is steady," said a source about the ongoing discussions. "This is not a breakdown, but testing times." India's continued engagement with Russia, particularly through energy imports, remains a point of concern in Washington and in many European capitals as well. However, Indian diplomats are actively working to explain the country's strategic compulsions while reinforcing its commitment to a global rules-based order, including through expanded participation in peace dialogues around Ukraine.

At the same time, India is ensuring that the broader regional security agenda—especially through the Quad (India, the US, Japan, and Australia)—remains unaffected. "In all ongoing conversations with Quad partners, India has made it clear that our cooperation in the Indo-Pacific must remain insulated from short-term friction," said another source. However, getting an assurance on Donald Trump's travel to India remains a task in slow progress. The political backdrop in Washington adds complexity.

"I'll always be friends with Modi. He's a great Prime Minister. But I just don't like what he's doing right now," Trump said at a recent press interaction, referring to India's continued purchases of Russian oil. "India and the US have a very special relationship. There's nothing to worry about. We just have moments on occasion."

PM Modi responded in a measured tone: "Deeply appreciate and fully reciprocate President Trump's sentiments and positive assessment of our ties. India and the US have a very positive and forward-looking Comprehensive and Global Strategic Partnership," he posted on X. The key diplomatic challenge now is not about the survival of the Indo-US relationship—it will endure—but about crafting a workable compromise that addresses Washington's concerns without compromising India's strategic autonomy.

At the same time, both sides are delicately navigating legacy issues, including how to sidestep the politically sensitive narrative around Trump's 'declared' role in facilitating the India-Pakistan ceasefire, which New Delhi has consistently downplayed. The task ahead is not just about finding policy alignment, but also about managing perceptions in a way that preserves mutual respect and strategic trust.

Trump officials have been increasingly vocal about the need for a tougher line. Kevin Hassett, a key economic adviser, said the US is "ready to respond economically" to countries continuing energy trade with Russia. Peter Navarro, a key Trump aide, said: "India can't ride both horses. You're either with the West or you're not."

However, Indian policymakers are holding the line. "We do not see our relationship with Russia and the US as a zero-sum game," said an official. "We believe foreign policy is not about defiance—it's about diversification and long-term stability."

Indian officials are also exploring what diplomatic or economic gestures could help ease tensions. These may include expediting high-value defence deals, expanding tech partnerships, or increasing political alignment on Indo-Pacific priorities. But any step forward will be carefully calibrated.

India's outreach is not limited to formal diplomacy. Jason Miller, a close Trump ally and now India's registered lobbyist in Washington, met with the president this week. Although the meeting's content was not disclosed, the optics were carefully managed. "Fantastic week in Washington with so many friends being in town, topped off, of course, by having the opportunity to stop in and see our President in action! Keep up the great work," Miller posted on X, sharing a photo with Trump.

Miller, whose lobbying firm signed a $1.8 million annual contract with India in April, is seen as a key player in helping India manage political narratives in an increasingly polarised DC.

Despite friction, the two sides have moved forward on key deliverables. The recent India-US "2+2" inter-sessional dialogue reaffirmed alignment on core strategic goals. A joint statement from the US State Department noted: "Officials advanced bilateral initiatives, discussed regional security developments, and reaffirmed their commitment to promoting a safer, stronger, and more prosperous Indo-Pacific region through the Quad."

One of the most concrete signs of forward momentum is the upcoming defence agreement for 113 F414 jet engines from General Electric, to be used in India's LCA Mk1A fighter jets. The defence deal could signal a maturing industrial partnership, a strategic pillar that both nations continue to prioritise even during diplomatic friction.

TWO soldiers, including a Junior Commissioned Officer (JCO), and two terrorists were killed, while another soldier was injured in an encounter in a forest area in Jammu and Kashmir's Kulgam district on Monday.

A security official said a joint team of police, army, and paramilitary CRPF personnel launched a search operation in the Guddar forest area in south Kashmir's Kulgam district in the morning.

He said the operation was launched on police input about the presence of 2-3 terrorists in the forest area.

As the security men were conducting searches, they came under fire from terrorists hiding in the fire area. The fire was returned by the troops, triggering an encounter.

In the initial exchange of gunfire between the two sides, a terrorist was killed and three army men, including a JCO, were injured.

The injured soldiers were evacuated to a military hospital, where two of them, including the JCO, succumbed to injuries, sources said. The condition of another injured soldier is reported to be stable. The deceased soldiers were identified as Subedar Perbhat Gaur and Lance Naik Narender Sindhu.

As the search operation continued, security personnel again located the terrorists hiding in the forest area. The security official said another terrorist was killed in the gunfight during the day, taking the number of terrorists killed in the day-long firefight to two.

One of the two slain terrorists is said to be Aamir Bashir of Shopian, who had joined militancy in September 2023.

The security forces suspect that one more terrorist is hiding in the area, and a search operation is going on.

"We are using drones and other surveillance gadgets for aerial surveillance of the area. Besides, the elite para commandos are also involved in the anti-terror operation," the security official said.

The encounter took place a month after a 12-day-long anti-terror operation launched by troops in the dense Akhal forest area of Kulgam in August, in which a terrorist and two soldiers were killed.

Uproar as AAP MLA nabbed, booked under PSA in Doda

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AAP MLA from J&K's Doda, Mehraj Malik, was on Monday arrested and booked under stringent Public Safety Act (PSA). CM Omar Abdullah and other political leaders have slammed his arrest and detention under the PSA.

Mehraj, who had defeated BJP's Gajay Singh Rana by 4,538 votes to win Doda Assembly seat in last year's Assembly polls, was booked under provisions of the J&K Public Safety Act, 1978, on the grounds of his activities being prejudicial to the maintenance of public order.

According to DM Doda Harvinder Singh's order, invoking PSA against the MLA has been taken after due consideration of all relevant materials, reports, and circumstances that clearly establish that the continuance of such activities by the MLA posed a great threat to peace, public order and tranquility in the district. Since Mehraj is an MLA, DC Doda had informed J&K Legislative Assembly Speaker about his detention.

According to DC, the preventive detention was necessary "for maintaining public order and safeguarding law and order in the region." It is for the first time that a sitting MLA has been booked in J&K under PSA that allows detention up to two years without charge or trial.

Mann demands ₹20K cr relief package ahead of PM's Punjab visit today

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AHEAD of PM Narendra Modi's visit to Punjab on Tuesday to assess the flood situation, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government has urged him to announce a ₹20,000-crore relief package for the flood-affected state.

Punjab AAP president and Cabinet minister Aman Arora said that "mere flood tourism" won't suffice in addressing the state's dire situation, which, he claimed, the state BJP leadership and Union ministers had already over-exploited through photo ops.

Arora said, "The farmers have also suffered collateral damage as many of those whose fields are inundated will not be able to prepare them for the kharif crops because of silt and sand deposition. In the coming days, as floodwaters recede, there is a danger of disease outbreaks in both humans and animals. I sincerely hope the PM understands the pain of Punjabis and provides them relief." He questioned why relief sent to Afghanistan could not similarly be extended to Punjab.

He also demanded the immediate release of ₹60,000 crore in stalled funds, which includes ₹50,000 crore in revenue losses due to the implementation of the GST regime and ₹8,000 crore withheld in the Rural Development Fund (RDF) and Market Development Fund (MDF) over the past three and a half years.

Meanwhile, farmer unions, including the SKM (non-political) and KMM, have also demanded a special package of at least ₹1 lakh crore. Jagjit Dallewal, chief of SKM (non-political), said that they would not wear black flags or stage protests during the visit. "We will decide our action plan based on the Prime Minister's announcements," he said.

On the other hand, state BJP president Sunil Jakhar claimed that the AAP government had kept the state's farmers out of the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY) by prioritising public relations over meaningful policy action. He stated that this scheme, designed to cover losses due to natural calamities, pests, or diseases, was launched in 2016.

Gehlot's remark on Raje spices up Raj politics!

The desert state's politics is sizzling again, stirred by former CM Ashok Gehlot. On a recent trip to Ajmer, Gehlot casually dropped a bomb by claiming, "It would have been fun if Vasundhara Raje had become CM." Gehlot went on to call Raje the "natural choice" of the BJP and sighed that despite her experience, the saffron party didn't give her the throne again. "We are also sad about this," he added with his trademark political poker face. The remark came just days after Raje's meeting with RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat fuelled speculation in power corridors. Political observers are calling Gehlot the "magician".

5 Rajasthani students' filmi-style exam journey

Who says exams are just about pen, paper and nerves? In Uttarakhand this week, they turned into a full-on adventure thriller! Picture this: cloudbursts, heavy rains, mountains cracking and landslides cutting off entire regions. In the middle of this chaos, five determined students from Rajasthan with one thing on their mind - B.Ed. semester exam at Munsiyari. Most people would have packed their bags but not this fab five. Instead of bowing to nature's fury, they put on their metaphorical hiking boots, crossed broken trails, climbed over slippery rocks, and made it to the exam centre. Locals say it was nothing short of a "Bollywood entry scene".

Pilot's b'day bash in Mewar sparks buzz

Congress leader Sachin Pilot's birthday usually makes headlines, but this year the buzz had a twist. For years, Jaipur was the fixed venue of his grand celebrations but this time, Pilot shifted it to Mewar's Chittorgarh. The Tonk MLA has a reputation for never contesting the same place twice - until Tonk. He broke that pattern by winning from there again in 2023. But now, by celebrating in Chittor, he's lit a fresh round of political candles—Is Pilot eyeing Mewar next? Or is it just a birthday outing with a dash of symbolism? In the gossip corridors of Rajasthan politics, this birthday has set off a big buzz about clues and calculations.

'Bastar Investor Connect is for inclusive growth'

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

AIMED at securing regional development, the Vishnu Deo Sai government is set to host the next edition of Chhattisgarh Investor Connect in Bastar.

The state's major investment promotion initiative has earlier been successfully held in Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Raipur, and abroad at Tokyo, Osaka, and Seoul—garnering investment commitments worth ₹6.65 lakh crore since November 2024.

The Bastar edition of Investor Connect focuses attention on the government's commitment toward balanced regional development under the Chhattisgarh Industrial Development Policy 2024–30, designed to generate employment, promote entrepreneurship, and empower local communities while preserving Bastar's tribal heritage and cultural identity.

The government looks forward to the participation of over 200 prominent investors, industry leaders, and local entrepreneurs at the Bastar Investor Connect, making it a high-profile platform for collaboration and growth.

Several MoUs are planned to be signed during the event, marking significant new steps in Bastar's development journey, a govt spokesperson said.

Probe into recognition, admissions of all univs, degree colleges in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Uttar Pradesh government on Monday ordered a comprehensive investigation into all courses offered by the state's public and private universities, degree colleges, and other educational institutions, as well as their recognition and admission processes.

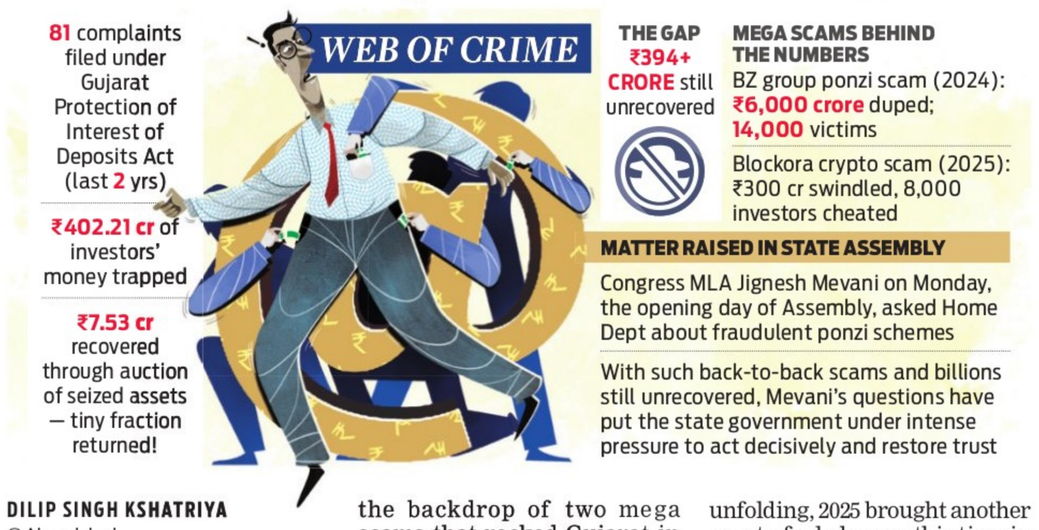
Following a meeting, CM Yogi Adityanath announced that a special team of officials would be established in each district, comprising senior representatives from the administrative, police, and education departments, to conduct the investigation. No student should be enrolled in an unrecognised programme, the CM stated.

Divisional commissioners will supervise investigations in colleges within their respective districts. The probe would involve scanning all the courses and their corresponding recognition letters. Strict action would be initiated against institutes running unrecognised courses. The teams would submit the report within 15 days.

The decision followed a protest on September 1 by an ABVP member over a dispute over the recognition of a law course in the Shree Ram Swaroop Memorial University (SRSMU).

The special probe teams would conduct ground-level inspections to verify the authenticity of the recognition and admission processes in the institutions. For transparency purposes, the institutions will have to submit affidavits declaring that they are running only recognised courses and a list of the courses, along with their recognition certificates. Violators will face punitive action and be required to refund fees, along with interest. The state government made it clear that the future of students will not be compromised under any circumstances. Adityanath issued strict directions to officials, making it clear that negligence or laxity at any level would not be tolerated.

₹400 cr stuck, investors in lurch as Gujarat scams spiral



WEB OF CRIME
81 complaints filed under Gujarat Protection of Interest of Deposits Act (last 2 yrs)
₹402.21 cr of investors' money trapped
₹7.53 cr recovered through auction of seized assets — tiny fraction returned!
THE GAP
₹394+ CRORE still unrecovered
MEGA SCAMS BEHIND THE NUMBERS
BZ group ponzi scam (2024): ₹6,000 crore duped; 14,000 victims
Blockora crypto scam (2025): ₹300 cr swindled, 8,000 investors cheated
MATTER RAISED IN STATE ASSEMBLY
Congress MLA Jignesh Mevani on Monday, the opening day of Assembly, asked Home Dept about fraudulent ponzi schemes
With such back-to-back scams and billions still unrecovered, Mevani's questions have put the state government under intense pressure to act decisively and restore trust

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

ON the opening day of the Gujarat Assembly on Monday, Congress MLA Jignesh Mevani questioned the Home Department about fraudulent ponzi schemes and scam companies that had duped thousands of investors across Gujarat.

The government replied that 81 complaints had been filed in the last two years under the Gujarat Protection of Interest of Depositors Act, 2003, and public money worth ₹402.21 crore had been trapped, against a meagre recovery of ₹7.53 crore.

The revelation comes against the backdrop of two mega scams that rocked Gujarat in the last two years. In 2024, Bhupendrasinh Zala, CEO of BZ Group, allegedly pulled off a ₹6,000-crore ponzi scam by luring over 14,000 investors with promises of double returns in three years and lucrative monthly payouts. Gandhinagar CID Crime teams raided multiple locations across Sabarkantha, Vadodara, Gandhinagar, and Rajasthan, uncovering transactions worth ₹175 crore linked to the group. BZ Financial Services, at the heart of the scam, was found to be completely unauthorised.

As the BZ scandal was still unfolding, 2025 brought another crypto-fueled scam, this time in Rajkot. A company named Blockora duped 8,000 investors, including 40 from Rajkot alone, siphoning off ₹300 crore. The scheme promised daily returns of ₹4,000 on an initial investment of ₹4.25 lakh. Investors were pushed to buy a fake cryptocurrency called TABC, only for the company's founders and partners to vanish overnight.

With such back-to-back scams and billions still unrecovered, Mevani's questions have put the state government under intense pressure to act decisively and restore shattered public trust.

Cong MP piggybacks on villagers for flood check

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

FORMER Union minister and Congress MP Tariq Anwar has courted controversy after a video showed him riding piggyback on farmers while visiting flood-affected areas in Bihar's Katihar district.

In the viral clip, villagers are seen wading through a waterlogged field, carrying Anwar on their backs, last Sunday. The Congress MP from Katihar was on a two-day visit to his constituency to assess the damage caused by the flood and to evaluate the overall flood situation. He toured the flood-affected areas by tractor and boat.

According to reports, Anwar tried to travel by tractor, but when the vehicle stalled and walking was needed, the MP, citing ill health, rode on locals' backs to visit the area.

BJP leader Shehzad Poonawalla commented on 'X', "Sense of entitlement of Congress. Even in flood-affected areas, do they want VVIP protocol? - Kharge ji insults farmers - Congress MP Tariq Anwar mocks flood relief - sits on the shoulders of people while "touring" flood-affected areas, Congress MP in VVIP mode, Rahul Gandhi in Vacation Mode, AAP in hiding Mode, Only PM Modi in work mode."

Clip viral on social media, sparks controversy

In the clip, villagers are seen wading through a waterlogged field, carrying Anwar on their backs last Sunday in Bihar's Katihar. The Congress MP from Katihar was on a visit to his constituency to assess the damage caused by the flood. The incident has sparked a row.

Defending Anwar, Katihar District Congress President Sunil Yadav contended that the villagers themselves had picked up the MP due to his ill health. "We used a tractor, a boat, and a bike to travel. During the inspection, our truck got stuck in the mud, and we had to walk around 2 km. It was extremely hot, and Anwar was feeling unwell; his head was spinning. As soon as he told us about this, villagers picked him, purely out of love, and walked around," he claimed.

In the video, a villager is seen carrying the Congress MP on his back while others hold him from behind. A police officer is also seen helping them.

Anwar shared pictures and videos from the inspection drive on 'X', and said that he stood with the flood-affected families. He also appealed to the government for immediate relief.

In one of the pictures he shared, he is seen walking, while a police officer and another man holding umbrellas provide him with shade. In another video, he and a few others are sitting on a tractor with all of them holding umbrellas.

Himalayan bears shed gentle image, turn deadly predators in U'khand

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

UTTARAKHAND'S hills are grappling with an alarming threat—bears. Traditionally perceived as omnivores, they are exhibiting unprecedented aggression. This behavioural shift has sparked fear among residents and wildlife officials.

Hot on the heels of reports of bear terror in Satpuli, Pauri district, a harrowing incident emerged from Rudraprayag, where two women were mauled. While bear encounters are not new in the mountains of Uttarakhand, their escalating intensity and frequency are.

The Forest Department officials said, "On-site evidence and the circumstances of the attacks suggest the bear has abandoned its inherent nature, transforming into a ferocious, fully carnivorous predator."

RK Mishra, PCCF Wildlife, Uttarakhand Forest Department, elaborated on the crisis. "The attack on so many cattle by a bear in Satpuli within such a short span is a first. The Forest Department has initiated compensation procedures and deployed a team to capture the bear. If it remains untrapped, orders have been issued to eliminate it. The bear's current aggressive display also poses a significant threat to school children and other locals, creating palpable fear in the region."

Ranganath Pandey, former Deputy Director of Gangotri National Park and a Wildlife Management gold medallist from WII, shed light on the phenomenon. "This period usually precedes the bears' hibernation, when they prepare by gathering enough food to sustain them for the next three to four months," Pandey explained. "However, the worrying trend is that due to their changing nature, bears are now active and aggressive yearround in the mountains, not just during this crucial pre-hibernation phase." This indicated a deeper, more pervasive change in their natural instincts, he said.

Over the past 25 years, bears have claimed 68 lives and severely injured 1,972 individuals in Uttarakhand. Livestock attacks are exponentially higher. Some years have seen more than 100 human attacks, with 120 people injured in 2009 alone.

Palestinian gunmen shoot 6 dead at bus stop in Israel

At least 12 injured, attack at busy intersection near northern entrance to Jerusalem

JERUSALEM

PALESTINIAN attackers opened fire at a bus stop at a busy intersection in north Jerusalem on Monday, killing six people and injuring another 12, according to Israeli police, emergency rescue services and local hospitals.

Police said the attackers shot people waiting at a bus stop.

An Israeli soldier and a civilian who were at the scene shot and killed the attackers, police said.

The war in Gaza has sparked a surge of violence in both the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Israel. Palestinian militants have attacked and killed Israelis in Israel and the West Bank, while there has also been a rise in settler violence against Palestinians.

Monday's shooting took place at a major intersection at the northern entrance to Jerusalem, on a road that leads to Jewish settlements located in east Jerusalem.

Footage of the attack showed dozens of people fleeing from a bus stop at the busy intersection during the morning rush hour. A bus, its windshield riddled with bullets, idled at a bus stop, with belongings scattered across the street.

Paramedics who responded to the scene said the area was chaotic and covered in broken glass, with people wounded and lying unconscious on the road and a sidewalk near the bus stop. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu arrived at the scene some two hours after the shooting. Netanyahu was supposed to be in court on Monday for his ongoing corruption trial, which was delayed due to the security situation. He warned that Israel is 'fighting a war on multiple fronts," including Gaza, the West Bank, and Israel.

Netanyahu also praised the soldier who killed the attacker, who was from a newly-formed unit for ultra-Orthodox soldiers. Hundreds of security forces arrived at the scene to search for additional attackers or explosives that could have been planted around the area. The Israeli military said it is encircling Palestinian villages on the outskirts of the nearby West Bank city of Ramallah as it steps up defence in response to the attack.

Hamas hailed the attack without claiming responsibility, calling it a 'natural response to the occupation's crimes against our people'. Monday's shooting was the deadliest attack since a mass shooting in October 2024, when two Palestinians from the West Bank opened fire inside a light rail train in Tel Aviv, killing seven people and leaving many others wounded. Hamas' military wing claimed responsibility for that attack.

Data from the UN's humanitarian office says at least 49 Israelis were killed by Palestinians in Israel or the West Bank between the start of the war and July 2025. AP

5 dead in Israeli strikes on Lebanon: ministry

Beirut: Lebanon's health ministry said Israeli strikes on the country's east on Monday killed at least five people, after the Israeli military said it targeted positions belonging to the Hezbollah militant group. Israel has continued to carry out regular air strikes in Lebanon despite a November truce that sought to end more than a year of hostilities including two months of open war with the Iran-backed group. Monday's attacks came after Lebanon's government said last week that its military would begin implementing a plan to disarm Hezbollah, without disclosing the plan's details. "The Israeli enemy strikes on the Bekaa and the outskirts of Hermel led to a preliminary toll of five dead and five others wounded," the health ministry said

Francois Bayrou

Bayrou third French PM to lose job in 12 months

PARIS

LEGISLATORS toppled France's government in a confidence vote on Monday, a new crisis for Europe's second-largest economy that obliges President Emmanuel Macron to search for a fourth prime minister in 12 months.

Prime Minister François Bayrou was ousted overwhelmingly in a 364-194 vote against him. Bayrou paid the price for what appeared to be a staggering political miscalculation, gambling that lawmakers would back his view that France must slash public spending to repair its debts. Instead, they seized on the vote that Bayrou called to gang up against the 74-year-old centrist who was appointed by Macron in December.

The demise of Bayrou's short-lived minority government now constitutionally obliged to submit its resignation to Macron after just under nine months in office heralds renewed uncertainty and a risk of prolonged legislative deadlock for France. Although Macron had two weeks to prepare for the government collapse after Bayrou announced in August that he'd seek a confidence vote on his unpopular budget plans, no clear front-runner has emerged as a likely successor.

After Gabriel Attal's departure as prime minister in September 2024, followed by former Brexit negotiator Michel Barnier's ouster by parliament in December and Bayrou now ousted, too, Macron again faces an arduous hunt for a replacement to build consensus in the parliament's lower house that is stacked with opponents of the French leader.

The root of the latest government collapse was Macron's stunning decision to dissolve the National Assembly in June 2024, triggering a legislative election that the French leader hoped would strengthen the hand of his pro-European centrist alliance. AP

Israel's top court raps govt over treatment of Palestinians

Tel Aviv: In a highly rare exercise of wartime legal restraint, Israel's Supreme Court ruled Sunday that the Israeli government has deprived Palestinian detainees of even a minimum subsistence diet and ordered authorities to increase the amount and improve the quality of food served to deprived Palestinian inmates. Although it's the job of the Supreme Court to advise the government of the legality of its policies, the Israeli judiciary has seldom taken issue with its actions in the 23-month Israel-Hamas war. Since Hamas' October 7, 2023, attack on southern Israel that killed 1,200 people, mostly civilians, Israel has largely rejected growing international criticism of its conduct by arguing that it was doing what was necessary to defeat Hamas. The Israeli army has detained large numbers of Palestinians in Gaza and the occupied West Bank on suspicion of militant ties. Thousands have been released from months of detention in camps and jails without charge to tell of brutal conditions, including overcrowding, scant food supplies, inadequate medical attention and scabies outbreaks. As Israel's highest tier of accountability, the Supreme Court hears complaints from individuals and organisations against Israeli government actions, such as its practice of restricting food and medical supplies to Gaza or, in this case, what two Israeli human rights groups described in their complaint as the security establishment's 'systemic policy' of depriving Palestinian prisoners of food. Tata Sons likely to remain unlisted

Tata Sons has complied with all stipulations put forth by RBI to remain unlisted co, say sources

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank is not averse to allowing Tata Sons, the holding company of the $165 billion salt-to-software conglomerate, to remain a private entity provided the decision is unanimous by both majority shareholder groups, as the company has already met nearly all the regulatory conditions to be an unlisted company, as per two sources. The regulatory deadline for large non-banks to go public is September 30.

If formally granted exemption, it will make the Tatas more comfortable but leaves the debt-laden Mistry family that owns 18.6% of Tata Sons, making it the largest shareholder after Tata Trusts which owns 66.8%, piqued as they were keen to exit the conglomerate through a public share sale.

Tata Sons had in August 2024 surrendered its NBFC licence after paying back all its debt and turned a cash-positive company by March 2024 — the most important criterion to be private company under the RBI norms for large non-banks.

On retaining Tata Sons in the upper layer NBFC list under scale-based regulatory framework for NBFCs issued on October 22, 2021, the RBI said "It is without prejudice to the outcome of its application for deregistration, which is under examination." Tata Sons had formally applied to cancel its NBFC registration in August 2024. As per the scale-based regulatory framework, the RBI has classified large non-banking companies NBFC-BL or base layer, middle layer (ML), upper layer (UL) and top layer (TL) based on their asset size. The new framework demands all upper layer NBFCs to be publicly listed before September 30, 2025.

THE REGULATORY DEADLINE FOR LARGE NON-BANKS TO GO PUBLIC IS SEPTEMBER 30

Sources tell TNIE that the AGM of Tata Sons held on AUGUST 14 had unanimously decided to remain a private entity

As of March 2024, Tata Sons was net debt-free with a net cash balance of ₹2,670 CRORE, down from a net debt of ₹20,642 CRORE

"Tata Sons has complied with all stipulations put forth by the RBI to hold Tata Sons as an unlisted company, including squaring off debt and surrendering the NBFC licence," one of the sources told TNIE on Monday. The second source said RBI wants the two major shareholders of Tata Sons—Tata Trusts and the Mistrys— to take a unified decision in the matter of not-listing.

"Currently, it looks like a divided house, with the SP group favouring listing the holding company. So RBI wants a unanimous decision by both the shareholder groups," the second source said. Sources had told this paper earlier that the AGM of Tats Sons held on August 14, had unanimously decided to remain a private entity.

A formal communication from the RBI is likely after its shareholders formally communicate their final decision to the regulator on whether they would like to retain Tata Sons as an unlisted entity, the second source added. Before surrendering its upper layer non-banking financial company licence to the RBI in August 2024 to avoid listing, it had repaid over ₹20,300 crore in debt between March 2023 and March 2024.

ON THE ANVIL

Sebi to ease norms for large public issues, FPIs

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

CAPITAL markets watchdog Securities and Exchange Board (Sebi) is likely to green light a slew of proposals to further relax the ease of doing business at the board meeting scheduled for Friday. This is the second board meeting this fiscal and the third under the chairmanship of Tuhin Kanta Pandey, who from day one of taking over from March 1, has been stressing on the need for 'optimum regulation'.

As per sources, the board is likely to clear a slew of proposals such as easing stake dilution norms for large initial public offerings (above ₹5,000 crore), further simplifying rules for foreign portfolio investors (FPIs), easing the rules for accredited investors in certain alternative investment funds (AIFs), expanding the scope of rating agencies' activities, and granting equity status to Reits & Invits, among others.

To help large issuers comfortably close public issues, the Sebi had recently floated a discussion paper suggesting reduced retail portion for large IPOs and also lowering the quantum of stake dilution through IPO based on issue size and the likely post-issue market value of the issuer.

The board is likely to clear the proposal to ease stake dilution norms for large companies by allowing smaller initial offerings and longer timelines to meet minimum public shareholding (MPS) rules. The move is aimed at reducing the immediate pressure on issuers while ensuring gradual compliance. As per sources, for issues with post-issue market cap of ₹0.5–1 lakh crore, the minimum issue will be ₹1,000 crore and 8% dilution, with 25% public float achieving in five years instead of the present three years.

'Even without ITC, policyholders will save on premiums'

PUSHPITA DEY & DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

HEALTH and life insurance companies are unlikely to get relief from the government regarding their request for input tax credit (ITC) on exempted items under the GST. Chairman of the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) Sanjay Kumar Agarwal told TNIE that there would be no structural changes to address the concerns of health and life insurers.

Agarwal ruled out allowing ITC benefits on newly exempted services, stating that insurers would have to manage impact themselves. "Either they will absorb it or they will pass it on to customers or policyholders," he said. He argued that even without ITC, policyholders would still see significant savings on their premiums. To illustrate his point, Agarwal explained, "If the base premium is ₹10,000, GST at 18% earlier made it ₹11,800. Now, GST is exempt, so the base remains ₹10,000. Even if companies have input tax credit costs (say ₹500), final cost may rise slightly to ₹10,500 — but it is still lower than ₹11,800, saving policyholders ₹1,300."

As per Agarwal, insurance companies are requesting an exemption for commission agent services and all other services they use, but this is not possible. He insisted, however, that a major reduction in insurance costs would occur after the rate cut.

The GST Council recently removed 18% GST on premiums for individual health and life insurance. This decision, however, resulted in denial of ITC benefits to insurance companies, as GST rules don't allow input credit on exempted items. Under GST 2.0, the CBIC has clarified that businesses in sectors like insurance, whose services have been exempted after rationalisation, must reverse any accumulated ITC "for supplies made on or after September 22, 2025, when the rate change is effected." The CBIC chairman also clarified that specific services, such as restaurants, which fall under the 5% slab, will continue to operate without ITC.

He hinted that the notification on proposed changes would be issued in a day or two. The finance ministry has promised to help the industry transition to the new GST framework, which will take effect from September 22. Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman stated that the board would be "talking to the interested stakeholders and see how their transitional arrangement can be made." She further added that the transitional provisions would likely be ready before September 22.

Infosys board to consider share buyback

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE country's second-largest IT services company Infosys on Monday said its board will consider a proposal for buyback of equity shares on September 11.

"...the Board of Directors of Infosys will consider a proposal for buyback of paid-up equity shares of the company at its meeting to be held on September 11, 2025, in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Buy-Back of Securities) Regulations, 2018, as amended," the company said in a regulatory filing. The outcome of the board meeting will be disseminated to the stock exchanges after conclusion of the board meeting, it added. It is pertinent to mention here that the Bengaluru-headquartered company had, in 2022, announced a share buyback of ₹9,300 crore via an open market route for a maximum price of ₹1,850 per equity share.

Outsourcing tax may alter cost structure of US cos, reshape Indian IT firms, GCCs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

DAYS after US Republican Senator Bernie Moreno introduced Halting International Relocation of Employment (HIRE) Act, IT industry experts say proposed Bill will alter cost structure for the US companies and reshape Indian IT firms and Global Capability Centres (GCCs).

The Bill aims to impose a 25% tax on US companies that outsource jobs in tech and other sectors. Jaspreet Singh, partner and chief revenue officer, Grant Thornton Bharat, said the proposed HIRE Act, with its 25% outsourcing tax and denial of tax deductions on such payments, would alter cost structure for US firms outsourcing to Indian IT firms and GCCs.

"If enacted, this legislation may pressure US enterprises to reconsider offshore delivery models and prompt Indian service providers to recalibrate their global strategies. The overall impact will depend on legislative outcomes, enforcement clarity, and how policy definitions evolve, especially regarding what constitutes 'consumer benefit' and anti-avoidance measures," Singh told TNIE.

He further said: "The introduction of the HIRE Act is likely to reshape how Indian IT firms and GCCs engage with global talent markets. While its immediate impact may create new compliance and cost considerations, in the long term it could also encourage companies to diversify talent strategies, invest in local upskilling, and strengthen their global delivery models."

Big companies focusing on other markets

An IT company official said most of the big companies in India are not considering sending employees to US, instead they are focusing on other markets like Europe and Southeast Asia. Indian IT firms are unsure of what new laws Trump' administration would approve

In a post on X on September 5, Moreno said, "While college grads in America struggle to find work, globalist politicians and C-Suite executives have spent decades shipping good-paying jobs overseas in pursuit of slave wages and immense profits – those days are over."

An IT company official said that most of the big companies in India are not considering sending their employees to the US, instead they are focusing on other markets like Europe and Southeast Asia. The Indian IT companies are unsure of what new laws US President Donald Trump's administration would approve, affecting their employment.

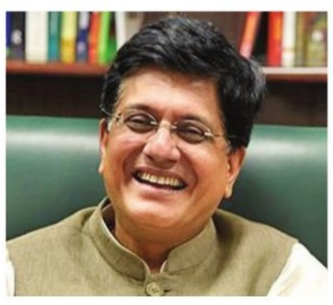
India, Qatar final FTA terms of reference in Oct

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA will soon be finalising the terms of reference for its proposed free trade agreement (FTA) with Qatar in October, signaling a fresh push in its broader trade diversification strategy, as per commerce ministry sources.

Commerce minister Piyush Goyal is likely to travel Qatar in the first week of October to firm up the negotiation blueprint. The FTA with Qatar will be advanced as a part of the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA). Both India and Qatar have set an ambitious goal to achieve bilateral trade up to $28 billion by 2030. India is also advancing multiple other trade negotiations. Talks with the EU have gained momentum as part of efforts to formalise an FTA. Delegates from the EU have come to India and talks will be happening over this week for the 13th round FTA negotiations. Piyush Goyal is likely to hold a bilateral meeting with the EU's Trade Commissioner on September 12, according to a government source.



Discussions with New Zealand, Chile, Peru, Oman (pending formal signing), and the Russia-led Eurasian Economic Union are also underway. The fast-tracking of proposed FTA talks comes amid global trade headwinds, as India faced a whopping 50% tariff from the US. In response to rising US tariffs and other geo-political headwinds — the government is doubling down on alternative trade routes and partners.

India's expanding negotiations underscore its strategic pivot toward export diversification. This includes FTAs with regions beyond the US, aimed at safeguarding domestic stakeholders—especially farmers and small enterprises—while sustaining India's export.

However, sources confirmed that despite several challenges India is still engaging with the US at a diplomatic level. India is aiming to engage with the US on a mutually beneficial multi-sector trade agreement, while safeguarding sensitive sectors such as dairy, agriculture, fisheries, and MSMEs.

India and Israel sign investment agreement

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA and Israel signed a Bilateral Investment Agreement (BIA) on Monday with an aim to bolster investor confidence and deepen economic ties. Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman and Israel's finance minister Bezalel Smotrich formalised the pact in New Delhi. The agreement introduces safeguards against expropriation, enhanced transparency, and streamlined mechanisms for transfers and compensation. It further enshrines a minimum standard of treatment and an independent arbitration framework for dispute resolution.

'Recycling of key minerals vital for clean energy tech'

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE The allocation of a ₹1,500 crore incentive scheme to promote the recycling of battery waste and e-waste for the extraction of key minerals is set to reshape India's material supply chain, reduce import dependence, and accelerate the country's transition to a circular economy, according to industry experts.

Rajat Verma, Founder & CEO of LOHUM, is of the view that by recycling critical mineral-containing waste streams, India has the opportunity to convert discarded assets into strategic resources, cut import dependence, and accelerate high-value manufacturing across the nation.

Attero, one of India's pioneers in lithium-ion battery and e-waste recycling, expressed similar enthusiasm. Co-founder and CEO Nitin Gupta called the move a game changer for India's circular economy and mineral self-reliance. "Recycling is the fastest and most sustainable way for an Atmanirbhar Bharat that can ensure domestic availability of essential minerals like lithium, cobalt, nickel, and rare earth elements without depending on imports," said Gupta.

He added that this will boost investments in advanced recycling infrastructure. The Cabinet-approved scheme aims to encourage domestic recycling of minerals vital for clean energy technologies, mainly in electric mobility, battery storage, and electronics manufacturing.

Harshavardhan Chitale new Hero MotoCorp chief executive

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HERO MotoCorp has appointed Harshavardhan Chitale as its new CEO, effective Monday (Jan 5), following approval of the Board of Directors. As part of this leadership transition, Vikram Kasbekar, acting CEO, will work closely with Harsh to ensure a smooth transition.

Kasbekar will continue to serve on the Board of Hero MotoCorp as executive director and CTO. Chitale served as global CEO of Signify's ₹4 billion professional business (global leader in lighting solutions), where he led a team of 12,000 employees across 70 countries, overseeing manufacturing, supply chain, product development, and digital transformation initiatives. Prior to that, he was vice Chairman & MD of Philips Lighting, where he executed spin-off into a standalone, public company and cemented market leadership with a share twice that of its nearest competitor. He has held top leadership roles as CEO and Board Member at HCL Infosystems and Honeywell Automation India.

12 Tamil Nadu-based companies get regulatory approval for public issue

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

TAMIL NADU-based Jain Resources Recycling Limited (JRRL), a subsidiary of Jain Metal Group, has become the fifth company from Chennai to raise funds through an IPO in 2025 after receiving approval from the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Tuesday.

JRRL and 12 other firms recently received SEBI's nod to float public issues.

Four other state-based firms — Lalithaa Jewellery, Veritas Finance Ltd, CIEL HR, and Milky Mist Dairy Food Ltd — have also filed draft red herring prospectuses (DRHP) with Sebi. Earlier this year, four companies from Chennai — Dr Agarwal Health Care, Sattva Engineering Construction, LGT Business Connextions Ltd, and FlySBS Aviation — were listed on the stock exchanges. Of these, Sattva debuted on Wednesday, while Sattva, LGT and FlySBS were listed under the SME category.

"Until now, companies from South India, particularly Tamil Nadu, were seen as conservative. With initial public offer markets booming, more investors are coming in.

The entry of second- and third-generation leaders is driving corporates to tap public markets.

Moreover, investors see southern companies as attractive due to their honest management and stronger governance," said Ambareesh Baliga, independent equity research analyst.

JRRL, engaged in non-ferrous metal recycling, reported a revenue of ₹4,485 crore in FY24, up from ₹3,107 crore in FY23. It plans to raise ₹2,000 crore through the IPO, including a fresh issue of ₹500 crore and an offer for sale (OFS) of ₹1,500 crore.

Promoter Kamlesh Jain leads the company, whose portfolio includes lead, copper, and aluminium products. JRRL is also among the few Indian recycling firms with its lead ingot brand registered on the London Stock Exchange.

Lalithaa Jewellery filed draft papers in June for a ₹1,700 crore IPO (₹1,200 crore fresh issue + ₹500 crore OFS by promoter M Kiran Kumar Jain). The firm reported revenue of ₹16,797 crore and profit of ₹358.3 crore in FY24. Despite facing Sebi scrutiny over governance, it has not withdrawn its DRHP.

Veritas Finance, an NBFC founded by Sheik Abdullah, Arulmany Duraisamy and Vidya Arulmany, filed in January for a ₹2,800-crore IPO (₹600 cr fresh issue + ₹2,200 crore offer for sale.

IN the next 48 hours, Indian men will be taking the field against United Arab Emirates in their first match of the Asia Cup 2025. Before they do so, there are a few things to finalise for captain Suryakumar Yadav and head coach Gautam Gambhir in terms of their batting line-up as well as team combination. Former India women head coach WV Raman, in a conversation facilitated by Sony Sports Network (the official broadcaster of Asia Cup), talks about a fair few of such questions the team management faces including Rinku Singh's place in the XI, the form of Suryakumar and more. Excerpts.

On Gill coming into mix

I think he's perhaps going to do something Sourav Ganguly did in his career. He's perhaps going to stick to middle-order in Tests and play at the top of the order in white-ball cricket. His inclusion is perhaps a part of the long-term, larger-picture decisions that are likely to be made. I think he's going to be handed over the capacity sooner or later for all formats from what we get to hear and what we can surmise. That's probably something that's motivated them to bring him into the side, give him the promotion as well as becoming the deputy to SKY.

On SKY's form & captaincy

See, as a captain, you need somebody who's aggressive, who's positive, who's got a good temperament, who's one among the boys. And I think Suryakumar Yadav is all this. And that's the reason he's been persisted with as captain. We all know in T20s, it's not all about churning out runs every time you walk out to bat. It's the impact that you make. We all know the kind of impact SKY can make on a given day, even against the best of attacks. He's also extremely good on the field. So that being the case, he will not be too worried about what has happened in the recent past. He knows the responsibility, he's matured and he's really had to work hard over a long period of time to get where he is. So he's a grounded guy. He also knows that with authority comes responsibility. I'm sure that he will make his presence felt in more ways than one.

On team combination

I would think you'll have four specialist bowlers. Arshdeep Singh and Jasprit Bumrah are no-brainers. Then you'll have perhaps Varun Chakravarthy and Kuldeep Yadav, with Axar Patel and Hardik Pandya being all-rounders, they obviously would fit in any category. That makes six, which leaves place for five batters, including a wicket-keeper. And there again, that's again an all-rounder slotted there, be it Jitesh Sharma or Samson. It's a straightforward equation as far as I'm concerned.

On Rinku's role

I think Rinku is primarily like SKY, picked as a T20 player. I, for one, would tend to think that if somebody is categorised as a specialist in the T20s, and he's one who can turn games on their heads, then he has to be played in the XI. There's no point in having a potential match-winner in the side all the time. And Rinku is also not getting younger. It's about time he establishes himself and goes on to become one of the most important cogs in the wheel.

On Bumrah's workload

Listen, I'm going to indulge in a bit of conjecture. I'm going to think that the injuries that he's had is because of the unique action with which he bowls. Now, that being the case, it's not a question of how many overs he bowls. It's a question of what his body can take and when and how he's got to really look after the kind of effort that he puts in. There's no saying when things can go wrong or there's no saying if Bumrah will be able to really play in all the formats all the time. When a fast bowler comes out of a back injury after surgery, there's no saying, there's no guarantee. Even the player doesn't know. As much as anybody can try and hope that to give an adequate rest he can deliver at crucial times, you never know. And God forbid, nothing really serious happens to him if he continues to play. But this is a situation that we are going to live with most of the time. We cannot blame Bumrah especially after the setback. So, as far as Bumrah is concerned, it's always a case of just hoping that things don't go wrong.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

DON CARLOS OWNS STAGE, CLAIMS 6th SLAM

HOWARD FENDRICH

SO maybe the first U.S. Open final between young, elite rivals Carlos Alcaraz and Jannik Sinner wasn't as long, riveting and dramatic as their matchup to decide the championship at the French Open. Perhaps it wasn't as seemingly meaningful and plot-driven as their showdown for the Wimbledon trophy.

Still, what the No. 2-seeded Alcaraz's 6-2, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over No. 1 Sinner on Sunday did do was significant. Alcaraz reasserted his superiority over the defending champion, wrested away the top spot in the ATP rankings and left tennis fans eager for whenever their next clash will come. They are the first two men in the sport's history to face each other in three consecutive Grand Slam finals within a single season.

"I'm seeing you more than my family," Alcaraz joked during the trophy ceremony, eliciting a grin from Sinner. "It's great to share the court, to share the locker rooms, everything." This 2-hour, 42-minute win gave Alcaraz, a 22-year-old from Spain, leads over Sinner, a 24-year-old from Italy, of 10-5 in their head-to-head series, 6-4 in total Grand Slam trophies, and 2-1 in U.S. Open championships. "I give lots of credit to him, because he handled the situation better than I did," said Sinner, who lamented that his own play was too predictable. "He raised his level when he had to."

The match's start was delayed for about a half-hour while thousands of fans were stuck outside Arthur Ashe Stadium going through extra security because President Donald Trump sat in a sponsor's suite. Under a closed roof because of rain earlier in the day, Alcaraz was stronger, faster, more well-equipped for the occasion. "You were better than me," Sinner said. "I tried my best today. I couldn't do more."

Alcaraz finished with twice as many winners, 42-21, and his coach, 2003 French Open champ Juan Carlos Ferrero, called the performance "perfect." Alcaraz's view of that assessment? "He's right. I think I played perfect. ... If I want to beat Jannik, I have to play perfect." This hard-court matchup followed Alcaraz's victory over Sinner across 5 1/2 hours after erasing a trio of match points on the red clay at Roland-Garros in June, and Sinner's victory over two-time reigning champ Alcaraz on the grass at the All England Club in July.

Alcaraz took a week off after Wimbledon and then immediately got to work, spending 15 days with Ferrero focusing on one thing and one thing only: beating Sinner. "I studied that match," Alcaraz said. AP

Three cheers for India in CAFA Nations Cup

AGENCIES @ Hisor (Tajikistan)

INDIA marked their debut appearance in the CAFA Nations Cup with a third-place finish, defeating higher-ranked Oman 3-2 on penalties for their first-ever victory against the West Asian side here.

The match went into shootout after the proceedings ended 1-1 post extra time.

After Udanta Singh Kumam's 80th-minute goal cancelled out Jameel Al Yahmadi's 55th-minute opener, the 30 minutes of extra time did not yield any result. Oman defender Ali Al Busaidi was sent off in the 96th minute. Lallianzuala Chhangte, Rahul Bheke, and Jithin MS scored for India in the penalties, while Anwar Ali's spot-kick was saved and Udanta missed. Meanwhile, Thani Al Rushaidi, Muhsen Al Ghassani were the only two players to score their spot kicks for Oman. Harib Al Saadi and Ahmed Al Kaabi missed theirs, and Gurpreet Singh Sandhu, in dramatic fashion, produced a save off the last kick of the game from Jameel Al Yahmadi.

Buchi Babu: Hyderabad take first innings lead

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

HYDERABAD spinners Rohit Rayudu (3/96) and Nithin Sai Yadav (3/55) bagged six wickets between themselves to help their team bag a slender lead of 23 runs over TNCA President's XI on the third day of the All India Buchi Babu Invitation tournament being played at the CSK-HPC grounds here on Monday. TNCA President's XI were all out for 353, later Hyderabad were 14/1 in 10 overs in their second essay when stumps were drawn.

Resuming the day on a comfortable 142/1, the hosts would have thought that taking the all-important lead was a formality, but that was not to be. Hyderabad spinners worked really hard on a hot and humid day, kept trying relentlessly and were suitably rewarded. Pradosh was the first to go as he fell leg before to a straighter one from Rohit. He then foxed S Radhakrishnan with a quicker one for 98. B Indrajith (50) and Ajitesh G (57) played effortlessly but once they fell to Aniketh and Varun, respectively, TNCA President's XI hopes of a lead vanished.

HI welcomes Pakistan, says president Tirkey

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

EVEN before the function to unveil the schedule began, the major topic of discussion was whether Pakistan would be visiting Chennai during the Junior Hockey World Cup in November and December this year. There have been uncertainty after reports emerged from Pakistan that pointed towards the team not coming to India. However, during a function at a plush hotel in the city on Monday, Hockey India president Dilip Tirkey said he did not hear that Pakistan were not coming but at the same time said there was no formation as yet.

While speaking on the sidelines of the function, Tirkey said though Pakistan are yet to confirm but India have welcomed them and even the international hockey federation had informed them. "We are extending a warm welcome to Pakistan and am positive they will be here for the tournament," said Tirkey.

"Hockey India welcomes Pakistan. We also welcomed Pakistan in the Asia Cup, Pakistan did not come for the security reasons. But we are welcoming them for the Junior World Cup.

And the government is also welcoming them. They have the schedule now. It is up to them now. We haven't received any confirmation from Pakistan Hockey Federation. We are waiting," said Tirkey.

EYEING GLORY

Hockey team's mission 2026 begins in earnest

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Patna

Captain Harmanpreet Singh (L) and his team greet crowd after win on Sunday | PTI

IN the morning after the night before, the warm afterglow of a big win can tend to fade. Players may add some context or coaches could point to bigger challenges once they have safely tucked away their shiny metal discs. But Craig Fulton didn't even wait till Monday to provide context and perspective to India's Asia Cup win in Rajgir.

Speaking to media in the mixed zone even as his wards lined up to pose with the trophy for the gram, he said: "there's two different types of hockey," when replying to a question on 'the floor and ceiling of the team at his disposal'. "There's Asian hockey and then there's European hockey. All the power sits in Europe, in a way, and, obviously, Australia." It's true; in each of the last seven World Cups going back to 1998, the final has featured an all European clash or Australia facing one European outfit. The Olympics is a similar story. Going back the last 10 Games, eight finals has featured Europe v. Europe or Australia v. Europe.

That, really, is India's challenge with this group of players. Asian dominance was the bare minimum and they have achieved a threepeat of continental crowns in the last two years. The World Cup, though, has proved beyond this ever-improving group over the past decade, around the time when they began medalling at FIH blue-riband events.

Hockey India's top-brass — the selectors, chief Dilip Tirkey — have already started working towards a plan centred around competing with the best at next year's World Cup in Belgium and the Netherlands.

That plan revolves around building sufficient depth ahead of next year's multi-pronged approach towards tackling Asian Games as well as the World Cup, two events sandwiched within 45 days.

Both are important in their own right; the Asian Games winners get an Olympic berth while the World Cup is one of the sport's standalone special competitions. To ensure the team has no passengers in their ranks, some senior players will be phased out of the squad.

How did they get it right at this tournament after suffering through Europe? "I knew we were still playing well in the Pro League, we just didn't get the results. When we came back, we had a good training camp... I knew we were on track and then we just had to adapt to the heat," Fulton said.

How a smart glass is helping Fulton to get ahead of curve

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Patna

WHENEVER Craig Fulton addresses his team in the cauldron of the stadium, a small camera, tucked away in his metaglass, records everything. It listens to the conversations, captures how players react to his words and stores the data for later use. Welcome to the world of elite coaching where a smart glass is changing the way Fulton and the support staff operate. The cutting-edge tech has existed for a period of time but this is one of the first times an Indian coach is using it to get ahead of the curve.

"Sometimes, I use them to record my talks and some of the conversations that I have because coaching is difficult," he said in the mixed zone after the Asia Cup final against South Korea on Sunday.

When pressed on how the device helps him to connect with players on a deeper level — these glasses can cost anywhere between five and six digits — he said it helps him in the process of reflection. "You can actually get emotionally caught up in the moment, sometimes it's good to reflect or listen to, was I clear... that's why I use it." Fulton sometimes listens back to the recordings to see what he said to the players.

PRECISION ONCOLOGY THE WAY FORWARD IN CANCER TREATMENT

The medical approach offers a way to design treatments tailored to the genetic profile of each patient's cancer

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

WHEN 69-year-old Arvind (name changed) was diagnosed with advanced small cell lung cancer (SCLC), his prognosis was grim. The disease is aggressive and long-term survival rates are low. Yet three years later, Arvind remains cancer-free, thanks to a combination of chemotherapy and immunotherapy.

"It's a remarkable turnaround," said Dr Amit Rauthan, professor and head of Medical Oncology, Manipal Hospital, Bengaluru. "We would not have expected such outcomes in advanced SCLC a few years ago. Immunotherapy has truly rewritten the survival narrative for many such patients."

He recalled another case — a young woman with an oncogene-addicted tumour who had failed multiple lines of targeted therapy and developed brain metastases. "She was emotionally and physically drained. We initiated a chemo-immunotherapy combination including Atezolizumab. Not only did the treatment offer clinical benefit, it gave her renewed hope and control," said Dr Rauthan. These stories are no longer anomalies but part of a larger trend in precision oncology, a field driven by molecular diagnostics, genomic profiling and immune checkpoint inhibitors.

According to GLOBOCAN 2022 estimates, India ranks third globally, after China and the US, with around 1.41 million new cancer cases. With over 1.5 million new cases and 800,000 deaths reported each year, precision oncology offers a way to design treatments tailored to the genetic profile of each patient's cancer.

"We are experiencing a remarkable shift, moving away from a 'one-size-fits-all' approach to highly personalised care," said Dr Prashant Bagali, Head of Scientific Affairs, MedGenome, India's only College of American Pathologists (CAP)-accredited genetic testing lab. "This is happening because of advancements in three key areas — genomic testing, artificial intelligence (AI) and immunotherapy."

While genomic testing provides a map of the cancer, AI interprets it to determine the best course of treatment, and immunotherapy delivers targeted attacks. "Together, these therapies and technologies represent a new era of personalised cancer care that is faster, more sophisticated and more effective. It also means fewer side effects, improving quality of life for patients," said Dr Bagali.

Genomic testing has contributed to personalised therapy by identifying mutations that drive cancer growth and matching them with targeted drugs

Dr Moses Arunsingh, Clinical Oncologist, Tata Medical Centre, Kolkata

Unlike chemotherapy, which attacks both healthy and cancerous cells, immunotherapy activates the body's immune response. "Our immune system is built to detect and destroy threats, including cancer. Cancer cells hide behind 'invisible shields' to avoid detection," explained Dr Rauthan. "Immunotherapy drugs called checkpoint inhibitors remove these shields, enabling the immune system to fight more effectively. For patients with biomarkers like PD-L1 expression, high tumour mutational burden (TMB), or microsatellite instability (MSI), responses can be profound and long-lasting."

Next-generation sequencing (NGS) has enabled oncologists to study hundreds of genes from a single biopsy and identify actionable mutations. "There are cancers where genomic testing and immunotherapy have completely transformed care," said Dr Bhawna Sirohi, medical director, Vedanta Medical Research Foundation, Naya Raipur, Chhattisgarh. "In lung, kidney, skin and colon cancers, immunotherapy has led to long-term survival and improved quality of life."

Dr Sirohi, co-author of a recent Lancet Oncology article, noted that cancer incidence in India is expected to rise faster than global averages — from 1.39 million in 2020 to 1.57 million by 2025. She added that AI-based diagnostics in radiology and pathology are helping deliver cancer care even in remote areas.

Dr Moses Arunsingh, consultant clinical oncologist, Tata Medical Centre, Kolkata, concurred. "Work in AI, machine learning and deep learning is helping integrate data from clinical information, radiology, pathology and genomics to build predictive models. These refine conventional therapies like surgery, chemotherapy and radiotherapy, as well as modern therapies like targeted drugs and immunotherapy, and personalise them," he said.

Apollo Cancer Centre was among the first to apply such technology, launching India's first AI-Precision Oncology Centre in Bengaluru last year. "AI offers immense potential for effective decision-making, drastically enhancing cancer identification and providing cancer treatments curated for individual patients to obtain optimal patient outcomes," said Dinesh Madhavan, President, Group Oncology and International, Apollo Hospitals Enterprise Ltd.

"We have achieved an enabling factor where, through an AI today, a doctor is better informed in diagnosing a patient. It is a better, sharper, faster and precise diagnosis. Second, it helps in understanding which particular treatment gives a better outcome. Third, using the power of digital pathology and AI to understand how pathology, one of the core factors in cancer diagnosis, especially histopathology, is enabled in delivering that type of care," he added.

For oncologists, precision diagnostics is vital. "If you don't diagnose precisely, how will you treat precisely?" asked Madhavan. "No two cancers are the same, so treatment must be personalised. Precision means understanding the genomic makeup, profiling the genes and then making decisions."

Genome sequencing plays a central role. "Genomic testing has contributed to personalised therapy by identifying mutations that drive cancer growth and matching them with targeted drugs," said Dr Arunsingh. Available targeted therapies include trastuzumab for HER2-positive breast cancer and osimertinib for EGFR-mutated lung cancer.

nother innovation was the Imaging Biobank at Tata Medical Centre, Kolkata. The CHAVI (Comprehensive Archive of Imaging in Oncology) is India's first biobank dedicated to oncological imaging. Despite its promise, precision oncology faces challenges of affordability and accessibility, particularly in Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities. Awareness is also limited. "Many patients and even some healthcare providers are not fully aware of precision oncology. Better policies, stronger partnerships and improved infrastructure are needed for wider adoption."

he cost remains a major barrier. "Treatment can range from ₹4 lakh to ₹16 lakh a month, and often needs to continue indefinitely," said Dr Sirohi. She emphasised the need for validated labs and cost-effective testing in India. One way to tackle the cost factor is to ensure India is self-reliant in developing these technologies and treatments. "Oncology research in India must be strengthened to pioneer these technologies and drug development," Dr Arunsingh.

But what should not be forgotten is that a significant proportion of cancer incidence is linked to lifestyle factors. At the same time, lifestyle factors cannot be ignored. "A significant proportion of cancers are linked to preventable risks," said Dr Prashant Mathur, director, ICMR-NCDIR, Bengaluru. He urged preventive steps—avoiding tobacco and alcohol, maintaining healthy weight, vaccinating against HPV and Hepatitis B, and undergoing regular screenings.

Quitting smoking reduces lung cancer risk by 30–50% within 10 years. No level of alcohol consumption is safe. Obesity is linked to at least 13 cancers, including breast, colorectal, uterine and pancreatic," he said.

It is also important to get vaccinated. "HPV vaccine (for girls and boys, ideally before sexual debut) prevents cervical, anal, and oropharyngeal cancers. Hepatitis B vaccine prevents liver cancer." Regular cancer screening helps detect cancer early and improve outcomes. It may find breast, cervical, colorectal (colon), and lung cancers early, when treatment is likely to work best. While the most effective way forward is to take preventive steps, precision oncology is undoubtedly the future, provided costs are optimised, labs are validated, patients are counselled, and their treatment is kept at the heart of the treatment.

"Precision oncology must also account for socioeconomic context," said Dr Parth Sharma of the Association for Socially Applicable Research (ASAR). "Transparent communication about costs and benefits enables shared decision-making. The goal should not just be prolonging life but ensuring dignity, reducing suffering and preserving quality of life."

With style pioneer Giorgio Armani's recent passing, Bengaluru's designers reflect on his lasting legacy on minimalist design, red carpet fashion, films and connection with India

CIAO, IN STYLE

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

WHETHER you're an avid fashion enthusiast with an eye for the latest collections or not into fashion at all, it's impossible not to have seen or heard of Giorgio Armani's work. From the iconic oversized suit Julia Roberts rocked in the '90s, Richard Gere's casual and charismatic look in American Gigolo, or the tailored suits worn by gangsters in Goodfellas, Armani's hand is all over popular culture. With his recent passing, at the age of 91, here's a look at the legacy Armani leaves behind.

Reimagining classics

Since storming onto the Italian fashion scene in 1975 with his label, Armani has come to be known for his minimalist designs that play with structure. As fashion designer Mayank Modi explains, "A jacket was considered to be for formal suits and occasions, but he completely transformed it for both men and women, making it look like it can also be worn in a more casual way. Suits with slim Italian cuts and a sharp, tapered look were popularised by him," he adds, "Armani's major contribution was that he provided the perfect fit. He played with textiles and texture, rather than embellishments and even a simple Jacquard outfit would look well structured and stylish."

Styling The Silver Screen

Armani is also known for his beautiful red carpet gowns and tailored pieces for women. "If we look at red carpets, Julia Roberts wearing an Armani suit is an iconic look, along with a beautiful skirt that Diane Keaton wore. More recently, I really loved a feather and sequins gown that Lupita Nyong'o wore to the Oscars," says fashion designer Michelle Salins. She adds, "With the minimal dressing and relaxed, elegant power suits, everything about his clothing was so connected with structure and power. Once you wear it, it will immediately elevate your confidence."

Armani has also been the mastermind behind several looks in films that landed actors on the red carpet. Richard Gere's tan trench coat in American Gigolo remains one of the most iconic fashion moments in cinema, a look that continues to be remembered. Armani's suits with sharp tailoring and clean lines have graced numerous cult films such as The Wolf of Wall Street, Goodfellas, Inglourious Basterds and The Dark Knight. His frequent collaborations with Martin Scorsese further cemented his role in shaping the visual language of Hollywood style.

"Apart from inventing red carpet dressing, a common practice today across the world, he had styled for over 100 eternal Hollywood films that didn't just etch the world of cinema, but fashion too," notes Sounak Sen Barat, the founder of the bespoke fashion brand House of Three, picking looks from Casino as his favourites. "If I had to choose one, that would be his work on the costumes of every character in Scorsese's Casino. That left a profound impact on both the worlds of cinema and fashion. That's what makes history," he says, adding, "Armani taught the world how to dress. He is the Bible you refer to in tough times. His career, contributions, persona, quiet enigma, all exude certain emotions – stability, security, reliability, longevity, strength and elegance seamlessly intertwined."

Indian Inspirations

In 1994, Armani toured India and was reportedly inspired by the textures, textiles and traditional crafts here. Salins explains, "He was so inspired that he started employing Indian craftsmen and invited them over to Italy. I think what he picked up more was what we were doing with beads and sequins and adapted those into his designs with a modern outlook."

She points his 2019 capsule collection inspired by the Indian achkan, saying, "He launched it exclusively for India, but the palettes he had used were so non-Indian. We are used to jewel tones, but he had a very muted, restrained palette combining both his style and Indian culture."

Jayanthi Ballal, founder of Mysore Fashion Week, points out that Indian celebs, too, have sported Armani and have close bonds with the brand. Aishwarya Rai often wore Armani on the Cannes red carpet and was one of the select guests invited to the brand's 40th anniversary celebrations in 2015. "He's a strong influence in the Indian market and has been a red carpet favourite of Priyanka Chopra Jonas, Deepika Padukone, Kareena Kapoor, Shah Rukh Khan and Ranveer Singh. Recently, Isha Ambani wore a custom-made lavender coloured satin Armani suit," shares Ballal.

From expressing his intent to shed light on the lost parts of history to writing historical fiction, author Amish Tripathi gets candid with CE as the second book in his Indic series releases

THE HEROES AND THEIR STORYTELLER

ANUSHREE MADHAVAN

AUTHOR Amish Tripathi, who was in the city for a reading last week, is in utter awe of Rajendra Chola – the man he was, the conquests he made, and the beautiful temples and city of Gangaikonda Cholapuram he built. "What a man he was!" he exclaims. This sheer awe of one of the mightiest emperors of India comes across in Amish's latest book The Chola Tigers: Avengers of Somnath, which is a part of his Indic Chronicles.

The first in this series was Legend of Suheldev, released in 2020, which recounted the role of a King from Shravasti who mobilised Indians to fight the Turkic army after the destruction of the Somnath temple.

The book mentions the Chola general Narasimhan telling King Suheldev that they got vengeance from Mahumd as well. The King then asks to hear that story too to which, General Narasimhan hints that perhaps an author will write about it.

"I'm here. The author is here," laughs Amish.

Along with Narasimhan, the other passengers in this journey of revenge sought against Mahumd is a Chalukya king – whose father was a rival of the Cholas, a Gujarati merchant, a member of the Vavar community of Kerala – whose sole duty is to protect Lord Ayyappa, and a Chola officer. Their story, told in The Chola Tigers is a celebration of a dynasty and a piece of history that hasn't gotten its due.

Excerpts follow:

• Why did you plan on the Indic Chronicle series?

The Indic Chronicles is a relook at the narrative of the last 1,300 years. There are various problems in the way history is taught to us. Even if the facts are still the same, the way they are presented to us has a very biased approach. Our history has an excessive focus on Delhi. Most other regions are ignored. If you notice, Eastern India is ignored, Central India, King Bhoj is ignored; Western India is ignored. Most of the history of the last 1,300 years essentially focuses on the region between Khyber and Agra. Delhi is an important area but it is not the only important area of India.

This entire story of the last 1,300 years is presented as one of repeated defeats. The subtle or, in fact, not so subtle message given to us was, our ancestors were either cowardly or disunited because they kept losing battles. In summary, they were looking towards Khyber Pass for the next invader to come, and then there would be a battle at Panipat, which we would obviously lose. And then there would be the next oppressor oppressing us. The only difference between the British and the Turks was that the British came from the sea. Why did the British Raj come up with a historical narrative like this? Basically, to tell all of us Indians, 'It is your job to be slaves'.

My understanding of it is completely different. The same invaders who came here – Arabs, Turks, Persians, Europeans, British, Portuguese – went to every other ancient culture in the world. All those other ancient cultures are dead. The Aztecs, the Inca, Central America, Zoroastrianism in Persia… so many across the world, all dead. India is still standing. My interpretation of it is that the last 1,300 years is not a story of repeated defeats, but it is a story of the greatest resistance in human history. No indigenous culture anywhere in the world has fought so hard, and so long, to protect its culture. Only our ancestors did. If there is an interpretation like this, we would feel proud of our ancestors. They weren't cowards; they weren't disunited, they were actually the toughest people around. That is the real story of the last 1,300 years. Indic Chronicles aims to give that part of the story.

• Cholas and their contribution are well-known, at least in the south…

Why are our great ancestors reduced to regional history? Why is Chhatrapati Shivaji reduced just to Maharashtra history? Why are Rajaraja Chola and Rajendra Chola reduced just to Tamil history? Why is Emperor Bhoj reduced just to Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh's history? Why are the Gurjar Pratiharas reduced just to Western India, Gujarat, and Maharashtra? The Rashtrakuta is reduced to only Karnataka. Why? Emperor Rajendra Chola conquered much of Southeast Asia as well. The Bay of Bengal was essentially Emperor Rajendra Chola's pond. His empire was as big as Akbar's.

That's not the impression we get from our history books. In the last 1,300 years, the only national history is our invaders. Why is that? And this needs to be rebalanced. Emperor Rajendra Chola, Rajaraja Chola were not just Tamil kings, they were Indian kings.

They were our ancestors too. When Emperor Rajendra Chola conquered up to Eastern India, up to the Ganga, he changed his title. He took the title 'Gangaikondan'. It was an emotional moment for him. He renamed his capital as 'Gangaikonda Cholapuram'. Our nationalism was much more liberal and relaxed. We must celebrate that.

EXERCISE & PCOS: EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW

Polycystic Ovary Syndrome (PCOS) is one of the most common hormonal disorders affecting women between the ages of 15 and 45. It's often surrounded by conflicting advice, making it difficult to know what really helps. What we do know with certainty is that lifestyle changes, particularly exercise, play a significant role in managing PCOS symptoms.

WHAT IS PCOS?

PCOS is caused by hormonal imbalances that affect how the ovaries function. The most common signs include:

- Irregular periods due to erratic egg release.
- High levels of male hormones (androgens) that may cause acne, excess facial hair or male-pattern baldness.
- Enlarged ovaries with small fluid-filled sacs.

Even two of these signs are often enough for a diagnosis. Alongside physical symptoms, PCOS can also affect mental health, contributing to low self-esteem, anxiety or depression.

HOW DOES EXERCISE HELP?

Exercise is one of the first steps doctors recommend for PCOS management. The benefits go beyond weight loss and include:

- Improving insulin sensitivity, allowing the body to use glucose more effectively.
- Lowering blood glucose and reducing fat accumulation.
- Releasing endorphins that improve mood and reduce stress.
- Regulating cholesterol levels and supporting cardiovascular health.
- Helping to normalise ovulation over time.

For women with PCOS who are overweight, losing even 5 per cent of body weight can help relieve symptoms.

BEST EXERCISES FOR PCOS

While any movement is better than none, a combination of activities works best:

- Cardio: Brisk walking, jogging, cycling, or swimming help burn calories, improve heart health, and reduce diabetes risk.
- Strength training: Builds lean muscle, raises metabolic rate, and improves body composition.
- High-intensity workouts: Interval training helps burn fat efficiently.
- Yoga: Aids stress reduction, hormonal balance, and weight management.

HOW MUCH EXERCISE IS ENOUGH?

Experts recommend at least 150 minutes of moderate-intensity exercise per week (such as brisk walking) or 75 minutes of vigorous activity (such as running or HIIT). This translates to about 30 minutes a day, five times a week, with two days focused on strength training.

BEYOND EXERCISE

Managing PCOS involves more than workouts. A balanced diet, quality sleep, stress management, and, where necessary, medical treatment are equally important. In some cases, doctors may suggest medications or surgical options.

GLAM YOUR BALCONY AS YOU LIKE IT

With these modifications, your balcony can become a cosy outdoor respite

WHETHER you live in a two-storey home or a small apartment, sometimes balconies are the only outdoor space you get. No balcony is too small to help you connect with nature while prioritising your time outdoors. From foldable furniture to tables attached to the railings, there are multiple ways the square footage of the balcony space can be maximised.

From enjoying your beverage of choice to lounge-ready sunbathing spots, well-designed balcony spaces provide a sanctuary to the sky. Balconies become great extenders of hosting areas, in which case the furniture can be café-like, making it a perfect setting for two people to enjoy full meals outside. With smart, space-saving solutions, balconies can be most functional while being exceedingly aesthetic.

Having outdoor spaces, no matter the scale, is a luxury, especially in the urban setting. Here are some ways you can romanticise them to add a haven to your everyday functionality.

DESIGN STORY

Neeta Jessani
A designer and lover of textures making functional spaces aesthetic.

RAILING

Railings are the primary feature of every balcony, and builder-made ones are a sore to the eye oftentimes. Painting your railings is the most economical way to upgrade the aesthetics. Adding drapery or completely upgrading to a design that is personalised while renovating your space are other ways to treat this otherwise boring element of most outdoor spaces. If given the choice to do your own railing, always opt for thinner ones that do not compromise on safety. For example, a metal rail with clear toughened glass.

STYLING YOUR OUTDOORS

Outdoor spaces, though, are separate enclosures; extending your indoor style makes it visually seamless. Keeping the colour palette similar, using the same accent features like lights or printed upholstery, makes your tiny terrace feel like a part of your bigger home.

FLOORING

Thanks to the advancement in this space, deck flooring and outdoor flooring solutions have now become economical and easily accessible. From paste-on tiles to faux grass, you can take your pick based on the aesthetics you are aiming for. Floor treatments like rugs are a great variable too if your space is enclosed and equipped to tackle the monsoons. A change in the flooring can uplift your outdoor spaces more than expected.

MULTI-FUNCTIONAL FURNITURE

Whether you have a small balcony or have enough room to play with, multi-functional furniture is a no-brainer. Extra seats that become your coffee table when not in use, stackable seating varieties, floor cushions that can be moved around the other spaces, and foldable tables that can hold décor and planters when the hosting season is over. Also, keep in mind the durability of the materials used for these pieces so they stand the test of time.

PLANTS

The more, the merrier! Plants add warmth and life to any space effortlessly. Taking inspiration from your balcony views and landscapes around, add as many plants as your space can accommodate. It energises the surroundings and acts as an uplift to one's mood, adding to the overall well-being of the homeowner.

BALCONIES are a getaway within your homes, and the curation of these spaces is as important as the rest of the house. Keeping in mind functionality and aesthetics, aspects like safety, weather control, and keeping the insects away are other key points to consider. Layer them with textures and customise the furniture setting to your personal hosting style. Happy sunrises and sunsets!

'So many great heroes have been forgotten'

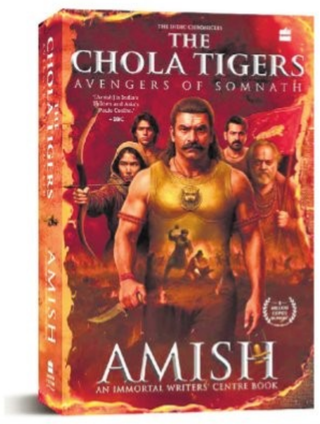
• Is there an unusual amount of spotlight on the Cholas, and are they being used as a political tool?
The spotlight is going on many ignored heroes, not just the Cholas across India. The Marathas, for example. They were ignored for so many decades. The Peshwas, the Rashtrakutas, the Parmars. This is all, I think, a cultural reclaiming of our ancestors. I think it's a good thing. Is there some politics with it? Yes. But there is a cultural reawakening. Lachit Borphukan's memory is being revived in Assam. So many of our great heroes have been forgotten. Culturally, I think it's very good. Isn't it nice if North Indians know about the Cholas, or South Indians get to know King Bhoj? King Bhoj and Emperor Rajendra Chola were allies. But this will be a shock to many. King Bhoj was also a scholar emperor. He'd written 70-80 books. These things aren't spoken of in our history books.

• Where do you draw the line for fiction when you write historical fiction?
The reality of writing historical fiction is that there'll always be basic facts, and then you have to try and put a story together for two reasons. One, real life usually actually does not make sense. But a story that you're reading, you expect it to make sense. Secondly, real life is usually boring, which is why many pure history books are boring. You have to add the storytelling style to it. That's the very nature of historical fiction. Some facts are so obviously wrong that you can't use them. But you have to update the story of it. Braveheart or Ponniyin Selvan, a lot of it is fiction. It has to be done that way.



IN QUEUE

A movie, Radha Ramanam, based on Krishna in early 2026

A non-fiction book in 2026

The game, Age of Bhaarat, by early 2027

Another fiction book in 2027

Podcasts and documentaries will continue

• Besides your research for your books, what are you reading currently?
I read more non-fiction. I just finished a long read, The Singularity is Near, and The Singularity is Nearer by Ray Kurzweil. AI is going to impact everything. If you want to understand AI and how new tech is going to impact our world, you can't do better than Ray Kurzweil's books. I am also going through a series of books by a British historian called David Starkey, who has written magisterial books on how England and the UK were created from King Alfred onwards. Of course, he is a lover of the British Empire. Your mind expands when you are willing to read someone who has a different point of view. These days, we don't do that enough. We want to be in our echo chambers. It's only when you interact with someone who disagrees with you that your mind gets exercised. I always believed that if you want to read someone who has an opposing point of view, there can be two strategies: One, read the idiot, which will make you feel superior, or go to the best thinker on the opposite side, read them and then you are actually forced to think and expand your mind.

THE FATHER-SON BOND MIGHT BE FAMILIAR, YET FOREVER UNIVERSAL: SRIKANTH HUNSUR

With years of experience in television, Srikanth Hunsur makes his feature debut with a heartfelt family drama, starring Rangayana Raghu, Pranam Devaraj, and Kushee Ravi

A SHARADHAA

FILMS on family bonds have often been seen on screen, but director Srikanth Hunsur is confident his debut film, S/o of Muthanna, will strike a chord with today's audience. The emotional drama, produced under Purathana Films, is set for release on September 12 in Kannada, followed by a Malayalam version the following week.

S/o of Muthanna revolves around the timeless relationship between father and son, a dynamic that can shift between friendship and conflict. "Yes, the theme might look familiar," Srikanth admits, "But it is also universal. Indian parents, even today, think about how children become their lifeline during old age, and children, too, must think of their parents. Yet, in many cases, that picture doesn't exist. And sometimes, it's the parents themselves who fail to pass on values while chasing dreams of sending their children abroad."

The idea for the film was born out of Srikanth's time working in television alongside popular serial director Vinu Balanja. "Back then, while shooting serials in areas like Basavangudi and Chamrajpet, I came across several old couples living alone," he recalls. "One story stayed with me—a couple with a house worth 18 crores, but their children abroad had no contact with them. After their death, the property was destined to go to the government. In another instance, a widow allowed her home to be used for shooting, but her son wanted to sell it, leaving her homeless. These weren't isolated incidents. I realised these stories had to be told, and that's how S/o of Muthanna began."

Casting was crucial for a story steeped in raw emotions. "The producers suggested Pranam. Initially, I had doubts because he was looking at mass subjects. But I was wrong, he has nailed this character with great maturity," Srikanth says. The film also features powerhouse actor Rangayana Raghu, along with Kushee Ravi, Suchendra Prasad, Girish Shivanna, Tabla Nani, Srinivas Prabhu, Sudha Belawadi, and Arun Chakravarthy.

On the technical side, the film has a strong team with Sachin Basrur composing the music, lyrics from Yogaraj Bhat and Jayanth Kaikini; cinematography by Skating Krishna, and editing by Harish Komme.

Srikanth concludes with conviction: "This film isn't about glorifying a formula. It's about reflecting a reality that many families choose to ignore. S/o of Muthanna will make audiences laugh, reflect, and maybe rethink how we treat the bonds that matter most."

It is going to be a colourful year with a new slate of films: Sumukha

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Sumukha, who was last seen in Yogaraj Bhat's Manada Kadalu, is entering a significant phase of his career. With three films in the pipeline, the actor says he is consciously exploring different shades of storytelling and performance.

On his birthday, the team unveiled the first-look poster of his next film, directed by newcomer Sanjay KK, who earlier worked as his associate. The film will be produced by Lawrence Joseph under the banner of Royal Fly Entertainments. "They were very impressed with the story. It had the flavour they were looking for, and they were keen to make it. This one will be in Kannada — very rooted, rugged, dark, and emotional — something audiences haven't seen from me yet. It will also be dubbed and released in Malayalam. Shooting will begin soon."

While the yet-untitled project brings out a serious side of the actor, Sumukha insists variety is what excites him the most. "The best part is that each film I've signed is different in terms of stories and characters," he shares. "Manada Kadalu gave me the romantic hero tag, but now I'm giving myself an out-and-out new label with Sanjay as director. I'm also working on a slapstick comedy with Pannaga Bharana, which is full of commercial elements."

Sumukha is also joining hands with Myra Productions for a new project set to go on floors next year, while another film, Chakamaki, is already gearing up for release. "I want to test my versatility and choose scripts that push me in new directions," he explains. "That's why one film is rugged and intense, another is lighthearted comedy. I'm always looking for variety."

For the actor, this year feels both personal and professional. "It's going to be a colourful year for me, and the best birthday gift I could give myself. I have diverse genres on my plate and an opportunity to reinvent myself. I'm clearly gearing up for a busy and exciting journey ahead," he says.

MD Sridhar

Sometimes, you have to step away to rediscover your voice: MD Sridhar

CE FEATURES

ACCLAIMED filmmaker MD Sridhar, the man behind films like Friends, Chellata, Krishna, Jolly Days, Porki, Bulbul, and Odeya, is back with a surprising turn. His upcoming film, Jumbo Circus, which has been in the making for some time, is set for release on September 12, and the director insists it's unlike anything he has done before.

"This time, I didn't want to go down the typical commercial route," Sridhar tells us. "Jumbo Circus is a family entertainer, rooted in today's generation. It's about friends who want to live together forever, but once marriage enters the equation, life itself becomes a circus. There's friendship, comedy, and drama, yet the core is family."

Known for crafting big-ticket star vehicles, Sridhar's latest outing leans on relative newcomers in the lead roles. The film stars Praveen Tej and Anjali Anish, alongside a strong supporting cast that includes Avinash, Achyuth Kumar, Ravishankar Gowda, Swathi, Ashalatha, Lakshmi Siddaiah, Nayana, Sharath, and Jaggappa, among others.

"Working with fresh talent felt like going back to my basics," Sridhar explains. "I've worked with Darshan and other big stars, but here I wanted to shed the 'commercial director' tag and focus on nurturing new energy. Praveen was part of my Jolly Days, and it's satisfying to see him take centre stage now. Anjali Anish, who was last seen in Yogaraj Bhat's Manada Kadalu, has an interesting role and brings a refreshing authenticity."

Produced by HC Suresh under the Sri Mahathi Combines banner and distributed by Gangadhar across Karnataka, the film features music by Vasuki Vaibhav and lyrics penned by Kaviraj, Jayanth Kaikini, and Nagendra Prasad. The choreography is done by Baaghi 4 director A Harsha, and stunts by Ravi Verma with dialogues by Raghu Niduvalli. "I've been fortunate to have some of the best technicians for Jumbo Circus. They are also my friends, and it feels special that they've all come together for this film," says Sridhar. and dialogues by Raghu Niduvalli.

With Jumbo Circus, Sridhar proves that even after a hiatus, he hasn't lost his instinct to surprise. "Sometimes, you have to step away to rediscover your voice," he concludes.

Neverending struggles

ASHWIN S

WHILE writing a fictional tale centred on the world of crime, the primary question is whether it is the world that is created first or the characters. Similar to the chicken and egg problem. Brad Inglesby, who previously created Mare of Easttown, mentions that his upcoming series, Task (2025), originated from its lead characters, FBI Agent Tom Brandis (Mark Ruffalo) and unsuspecting criminal Robbie Prendergrast (Tom Pelphrey). But Ingelsby also wanted the Task to be much more unique than Mare of Easttown. "I knew it couldn't be a whodunit, because Mare was a whodunit. And I felt like the tension could be a collision course. Once I started to put those pieces together, I wanted to tell another story in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, USA (Delco). It's the blood in my veins, it's the people I know, and it's people I care about, and it's the way I grew up," says Ingelsby.

Task follows the story of a Task Force under the aegis of the USA's FBI, headed by Tom Brandis. The task force is established to uncover the perpetrators of a series of robberies, committed by Robbie, that have taken place in drug houses belonging to a biker gang. When asked if Task can be termed as a cat and mouse story, Ingelsby explains, "I think it is. In one way, I think we wrap our arms around the genre of cat and mouse. But I hope what separates the show is the level of care we give to all the characters, so that you care about everybody in the show, not just the cops, but also the criminals and the bad guys. So I think in a way, it is a cat and mouse, but it's also a drama about lives under pressure, people who are backed into a corner, who don't have choices."

Robbie is a man who has run out of choices. He wants his children to lead a better life than he did. But instead of leading a straightforward life, he goes down a course that endangers everybody around him. Speaking about Robbie's choices as a father, Pelphrey says, "I just became a father myself. So, I finally knew things that I had only imagined earlier. I could really feel that I would do anything for my child. Anything. So then to get to play Robbie, where everything he's doing is for the sake of his children, is something I didn't need to research. I didn't have to ask anyone about it. I just know it in my bones." Someone who is affected by Robbie's choices is his niece, Maeve, played by Emilia Jones. Beyond having to move on from personal losses, Maeve is also forced to take up responsibilities that are beyond her age. "I definitely related to Maeve in that I'm really close with my family, and I also would do anything for my family. She has such a sense of family and love, and I really related to her in that way," says Jones when talking about Maeve. She adds, "People have related Maeve to Ruby from CODA in that they're both young people who are shouldering a lot of adult responsibility, and it made me realise maybe that is why I feel connected to Maeve, because I have somewhat played a similar role."
